Warning ...

Working against God's word...

Serious admonition ...

O thank the Lord, the Creator of heaven and earth! He mentions those who are ready to serve Him and instructs them at all times. And so you have the grace again and again to be allowed to receive the words of the Lord and to accept them as strengthening of your spirit. Pay attention to these words Whoever receives from the Lord must remain in the Lord to fulfill his task For the fate of man is still bearable but once the time will come where the word of God will be the only and true consolation for the children of men where people in bitter distress will approach the Father in heaven for help and then it will be given to them in his word.

The soul will long for divine gifts and will turn it's back on the world the Lord will destroy what still clings to the world, and His wrath will strike sinners who want to rob the seeking and God-seeking souls of heavenly comfort for God has mercy on His children, but where the spirit of the adversary works against them, there he will be stopped.

Therefore seek to wrest yourselves from darkness as long as God in His longsuffering has given you a period and if you cannot yet receive the words of the Lord, avoid anything that could bring the wrath of the Lord upon you do not work against Him His creation wants to go to the light, if it is not hindered by hostile powers and everyone also finds the way to the light, just make sure that all warnings and admonitions that are sent to him are not rejected ... If the child on earth thinks about the great question of creation and his own task, the Lord gives him also His blessing and brings the thoughts of man closer to the truth but he who autocratically rejects everything that could bring him spiritual light gets into great guilt To those comes the hour when the Lord speaks to him with a resounding voice, and if then his heart does not turn to the truth, then his life is a lost one, and the adversary draws him completely into his domain. O how lukewarm you all are when it is a matter of reaching the highest and most beautiful and making yourselves worthy of an unspeakably beautiful eternity!

A bright, radiant, light-flooded beyond is open to you, and you walk in darkness of spirit You need only beg the Lord for grace, and the glory of eternal life is assured Instead, you turn away from His love, you do not make use of the fullness of grace that is at your command, and let day after day pass without remembering that a Father dwells in heaven, who calls you and has prepared His kingdom for you. Recognize the divine love and desire it before the earthly guilt completely blinds you and you block the way to the Father. Every sinner is accepted when he only repentantly implores the Father for mercy, but he who rejects the Father's mercy closes the door to eternity for himself, and his end is death

Amen

Tax-free guidance of the life-ship line....
God's word
Glory

And in the inner knowledge of the eternal truth your life goal It is a daring enterprise, if you want to do justice to the task on earth without God's help It is not possible for you to lead the ship of life without steering You must call on the Lord for help at any time. But if you follow His commandments, you will get over all storms of life unharmed Not a hair can be bent on your head without the will of the Father So do not seek to hide your misery from Him, but trust in Him

No little star falls from heaven unless it is His will, and so you too are in His hat The Lord cares for you, He courts your soul and if you want to listen to Him, your spirit is saved forever, because His Word will always proclaim to you His love, His omnipotence and His wisdom And if you want to hear Him, He gives you everything according to your needs He blesses those who follow Him, He considers with His grace, whose life on earth is a walk in love

And hence allow yourselves be pointed to eternity for this is the only value of life of lasting value are only the deeds of love but the earthly world is like foam it passes away and nothing but the deeds of the spirit remain strive upwards, the face always turned to God the heart surrendered to the Savior in love and loyalty so you follow His teachings and offer yourselves to the Lord. And still you will be able to recognize only a part of the divine truth because the Lord has assigned this in its entirety to eternity so you will stand in the light and see the glory of God with spiritual eyes. Because only then you will grasp how great the love and kindness of the Father is

Only when you see the Word Himself in His glory, do you desire to penetrate ever deeper, and then the Lord will enlighten you Pay attention on earth because there only disaster threatens you, and to escape it, direct your attention to the hereafter you are warned so that your eyes do not become clouded and keep the little light, which was kindled by the kindness of the Father to rescue you from darkness. Everything has been created by His will, and nothing is without purpose and let God let you hear His voice, so see also in it His will it is the purpose of His words to save you from destruction "For only he who has My word will live in eternity"

Amen

Father's words ...
Announcements ...

My dear child not all are so distinguished, and not all are in the grace to be allowed to hear My words, therefore it is your holiest duty to dedicate yourself in most devoted love to this My word and to avoid as far as possible everything that could hold you back from it on earth. Resistances grow out of it, so that your spiritual ear is not able to receive so easily, if you are distracted by earthly pleasures

And so I advise you to avoid everything that binds you to this world seek in My words alone the happiness of your days, and never fail to devote yourself zealously to your work. For it is to your blessing and promotes your spiritual progress The way, which was shown to you, is of undreamt-of sweetness for your heart, because in love I stand by the side of all these children, who fulfill My mission, and lead them up to the heights What can replace such things for you? Where could you find the peace of your soul if not through Me?

If you, My child, love Me more than the world, you exchange heavenly food for earthly pleasures and stand in boundless riches for the Lord is well pleased with such sacrifice and gives you back a thousand times what you give up for His sake Therefore let this task always be the work of your heart in intimate union with Me you prepare for yourself greater joy and remain in My grace. So I also want to announce to you today that in every union with Me, heaven has it's joy and that such has an effect in a wide sphere around you because every noble movement of the heart lets light and power flow to you, which also gives power again to the beings surrounding you, which set their hope on you. Thus a light shines around you

Seclusion from the world ...

A sunny nature increases the power of the spirit, and your efforts will succeed in seeing the light of the sun through the ether blue, even if dark clouds still shadow you at present. Any spirit, which separates itself from a worldly beginning, which rises up into bright heights, will feel it's strength grow, and it recognizes in it the effect of the divine light. Well, there are days in existence, which lack the radiating brightness, but also in this stage man can achieve extraordinary things for his soul, if he asks for the strength from above because for some just this time is necessary, where man faces the worldly activities full of dissatisfaction

If he can save himself from such bodily distress over into spiritual regions, then the sun shines from there with it's rays and then a spiritual awakening takes place because the soul slept until then, it was in a state of unconsciousness, and only the warming rays of the spiritual sun awakened it to life there the Lord let His light shine, so that it showed the way to an erring human child From now on the soul has no need for this, if it always remains in the beam of this light and it can do that at any time, it only asks the Father from the heart for the grace of knowledge.

Pay attention to the words: Never lose the connection with the Lord and Savior, and never lose yourselves. To satisfy your hunger, you shall hear words of salvation All of you who stand in faith, do not worry about what is coming upon you awaken the Lord in you, let Him dwell in your hearts, and you will be delivered from every trouble If you remain in the Lord, the Lord will not let His own perish, because you are a part of Him who created you.

Therefore, with His grace He enlivens the weak and consoles the despondent He stands by His own, where the wrath threatens you If you show the Lord just a little love, He will bless you, and all the strength of the adversary against you will be put to shame For it will be a robbery of the flames who seeks to destroy you But you have to cultivate faith now and always and then also do not need to despair because God will help you for ever.

Amen

Humanity's need

Warnings and admonition to accept God's word

Your will is enough to enter My kingdom When you pray, you are with Me and I am in you because My whole being overflows into your spirit to strengthen your spiritual power so that nothing hinders you to accept what My will is. A small proof of this is that you are completely filled with Me as long as you send your thoughts to Me, and in this short time of your prayer your spirit revives in you still incomprehensible fullness, but not recognizable by your earthly body, innumerable threads go to all the spirit beings that effectively support you and satisfy your desire for spiritual food and strengthening by carrying out My assignment and satisfying your hunger. My dear child your spiritual work will have an infinitely delighting effect in the hereafter, do not abandon it that I may once receive you and bring you from earthly life to Me In which need and danger mankind is at present, is apparent to only a very few of you a recognition of the time in the whole extent would leave you frightened, because it now concerns everything regarding the existence or passing of your own life, it concerns spiritual life or death it concerns your soul.

Instead you chase after worldly pleasures and get caught more and more in the pitfalls of the adversary. So you only need the pleasures of this world to be happy on earth but woe betide you if you recognize the wretchedness of your spirit and if you have nothing with which you can cover your spiritual nakedness How shall I receive you into My kingdom, you who appear imperfect before Me and have done nothing on earth to be worthy of the reward for eternity It will cause you unspeakable agonies, you have to look back on the uselessly spent time on earth and are then in great emotional distress Have understanding, before it is too late

My warnings reach you again and again and again, but you do not want to hear Me and remain blind to My signs. So listen to the servants I am sending to you, let them speak and pay attention to their words; if they touch your heart, My Breath will touch your breath, for they are My words that My servants communicate to you in My Name And when you then accept My word, then you are helped, then My power has imperceptibly passed over into you, and it will have an effect in you until the end of your days. Because My word will not pass away until all eternity

Amen

The Word of God ...

For time and eternity is the word that the Lord Jesus Christ gives to his people on earth. As soon as the people begin to doubt, they lose the connection with the eternal Godhead and will therefore not reach spiritual maturity because to attain eternal life, it is necessary to obey the commandments of God, but without the word of God you lack the power to fulfill these above all you lack the knowledge of the eternal-grace-giving source, and you grope in darkness and are weak, helpless beings [and that] while you can acquire brightness of spirit, power and strength without measure through the word of God.

It is a fundamental law, the importance of which man cannot rightly imagine, therefore it is still better to accept blindly the Word of God, unconscious of the great blessing, than to reject it and thereby cause immeasurable harm to oneself. For wherever the Spirit of God is an active, ennobling influence on the human soul, there the divine love and power itself guides you To accept with devotion, faith and trust what is lovingly offered to you from above is infinitely wiser than to first want to fathom with the human mind what could be true and what could not be true

It is the great mistake of mankind to arrogantly consider itself wise, to consider itself called to do research in that which can only be explained by the divine Creator and for which the human mind is far from sufficient And where one cannot fully fathom, it is better to accept a teaching that can never ever cause harm, but rather strives for the noblest in its commandments and indications, and so can be called a true light from heaven.

To receive the message of God unadulterated is an immeasurable blessing for all of you you may refresh yourselves again with a water that flows purely and clearly from the spring you may receive words directly given to you by the Lord Himself so that you may feel the refreshment very beneficial and must recognize the value of God's revelations It was in his will to come to the help of countless poor earth children He lovingly offers them his saving hand and welcomes everyone lovingly, but you must find your way to Him and must not reject Him, but what you do if you do not want to hear His word

The Lord's vision goes far ahead In the beginning you may well be able to keep afloat with your teachings, which are the work of men, but soon you will realize that you lack the ground on which you can anchor you will be exposed to the elements and will not know where to find support in your distress. And then everything that is human work, fails Then only the Word of God alone remains, which was there from the beginning and remains until all eternity.

Do not let this most painful time for you come near in spiritual darkness, but turn still before this time to the word of God, which brings you salvation out of every trouble out of spiritual and bodily distress because only one can help you Who is above and to whom all work of creation is subject - so also you, who are created to strive for the union with your Creator and heavenly Father. The only way to God is through His Word, and only through this will you become one with the eternal Godhead

Amen

Divine mercy ...

Only those who believes will fulfill My will, and so everyone who desires Me will also remain in My faith because his striving will always be to taste the food of heaven, and this food will give him what he needs for his salvation. And so they who diligently practices love will always recognize the word of the Lord and act upon it, because this is indispensable for an intimate union with God And without this union again no bliss can flow through the human heart, and only in this way it can remain in the blessing through the works of love, to which I Myself draw close

My dear child, your constant supplication for My grace is a consequence of love for Me You do not want to miss something that your heart has received until now, and so your richness of grace has increased to the same extent as you asked for it Only a little while, then all grace will be revealed on you, because I search in the heart and give according to desire And so you feel over and over again how I come to you because every thought in which you seek Me, draws Me to you, and so I also want to dwell spiritually in your heart, and you are to grasp everything that is spiritually transferred from Me to you

You must all recognize that the spiritual world is the epitome of the creation thought of the divine Master. What being could remain satisfied with only what surrounds it's earthly shell, once it has learned to look with spiritual eyes To whom would the earthly existence still appear of value, who has penetrated into the spiritual world who has recognized that all existence on earth has only the purpose of spiritual perfection And who would really want to spend his life still uselessly after such a realization

Most people say: We live on in our children and deny that they themselves are called to something higher and therefore have to follow a wise commandment of the Lord in shaping their life on earth But every erroneous view will soon become clear to them, and their struggle for brightness of spirit will not be easy, but the Lord usually pulls the lever where he wants to have a rich harvest and where God's wisdom has recognized that man's heart is purified through suffering there the divine power, the living word of God, flows through the hitherto rejecting earthly child and lets it find the way that leads to union with the divine Spirit for the struggle for every soul lasts until all eternity.

Amen

Divine Grace ...
The Spirit of God ...

The Lord grants grace to all to the extent that they are worthy of it. There is no limited law according to which the earthly being may enjoy the grace of God only in a limited way, but the source of grace is inexhaustible for you people, if you only follow the right paths that lead you to this source. Every being which has succeeded in the awakening of the spirit, will now be permeated by divine grace, and this will now flow to him continuously, to render him more and more mature and completed as long as the earth carries him.

The wise always only strives for divine grace what he alone never can succeed in, he can easily accomplish, being supported by God's grace; and you may draw as much as you want at any time because it is only up to you whether you ask for it your prayer for the grace of God will always be fulfilled. Therefore again and again try to present your spiritual need to the heavenly Teacher so that He has mercy on you and instructs you in His teaching, and no day will pass where you will not collect treasures and form your spirit according to the Father's wish and will.

“Ask and you shall be given” And your share will be pure truth and clear vision, and as you learn to love God and your neighbor with ever greater power, so your spirit likewise illuminates itself with ever stronger light because only man sets limits in earthly ability, but God, the all-embracing Spirit, allows unlimited spiritual maturation, and every being rises into ever higher spheres of spiritual enlightenment until the spirit finally unites with the eternal Father-Spirit.

And now summarize all your thinking, striving and acting, and compare your present activity with your past life, you will recognize more and more that everything around you is flown through by the Spirit of God Your thought often turns upwards, it always returns to infinity You remain in constant contact with the world in which your soul now mainly seeks its abode And new areas are always opened to you, which distract your thinking from earthly worries and joys and form your spirit to completely different experiences

This extraordinary reshaping of your being is an influence of the divine grace granted to you in abundance It turns away from the world and towards the spiritual, everyone who only earnestly longs for it and asks God for help, and so everything is founded in it that has changed your life Both the earthly and the spiritual activity is determined by the divine spirit when the human child submits to the divine will.

For what is your life other than a slow forming of your spirit, that you recognize to be subject to divine power and yet to possess free will so that you use free will in such a way that you seek the divine Father, the Creator of heaven and earth, out of your [own volition] and strive to come ever closer to Him. When you have recognized this, the Spirit of God will flood through you, and again and again you will live in His grace, and your end will be a blessed one.

Amen

Revelation from God Himself...

In the name of God an incomparable event will be revealed to you in a new form, and everything that is around you is subject to the will of the Lord and where the powers of the divine Spirit continuously pour out over a child of God, there the Lord Himself will reveal Himself, and then the gift will dwell in the heart of the child to proclaim the pure word of God without difficulties and inhibitions, because in him and through him the Lord Himself speaks. His delight is the Lord's delight and so in true bliss of the heart a child of God will only carry out the will of the Lord it will also work by virtue of its love for the Lord in love and to the blessing of those walking on earth, to whom God's word is promised

The Lord demands the commitment of your life and yet gives you infinitely more if you comply with His demand For the sake of such things, which will point to a living faith without any action on your part which you do well, but not by your own power, but as executive instruments of divine will and divine power such things you must acknowledge as force majeure, and if you cannot explain them in human terms, a light must shine on you

And this is what the Lord wants you to aim at, that you begin to live the life that is to lead you upwards. All spiritual impulses in you are to be awakened the days are not to pass for you without peace and joy, but you are only now to get to know true happiness and inner peace. You shall also learn to recognize how stale the earth's goods are, how empty they leave your soul

If you want to enjoy pleasures on earth, you will always remain outside your destiny you cannot penetrate into regions that are only open to you when you seek the eternal Deity, because this is not to be found on earth in the midst of rushing pleasures, in the midst of lust and sin.

If your soul has the desire for truth and spiritual maturity, then you will never again be lured by the world's splendor and dazzle, then you will willingly turn your back on it and look up into infinity because from there the enlightenment comes to you and in an hour of solitude you experience the grace of the Lord on you. What is grasped by divine clarity can hardly again return into the darkness of ignorance, and an incomprehensible longing for light will now drive the soul, and also there the victory will be yours, in which you will then intervene to help [others] in the name of the Lord.

To show this way to people to light a spiritual little light in them, the Lord Himself will reveal Himself, and there will be astonishment and amazement He will shake the soul of many an earthly child, because His mercy and His love is so great that He wants to knock everywhere, so that the doors of the hearts may be opened to Him

Amen

Rejecting the idea of survival after death

It is an impossible to begin to want to point out to men at times of complete spiritual blindness that the state of their souls after death is one of their own choice or self-seeking but that they can never ever arbitrarily improve this state as soon as they have once stripped off the body-cover. How can one want to draw men's attention to such things when they reject any thought of a continuation of the soul after death How is it possible to bring into such hearts the impulse to spiritual activity when they still shake their heads and dismiss everything that could point to a survival after death. How can one want to draw people's attention to such things when they reject any thought of a continuation of the soul after death How is it possible to bring into such hearts the impulse to spiritual activity when they still shake their heads and dismiss everything that could point to survival after death. They believe in their blindness to simply sink back into nothingness and prefer this thought by far to the belief in survival, because then they would also be spared the responsibility, which they still shy away from, even if they do not want to admit it

Now the Lord Himself enters He still wants to gain access to people's hearts therefore all that develops through your hands is also an all-explanatory proof of the work of the divine Spirit. The Lord never lets those whose will is good, remain in ignorance, and these will be pointed out through unmistakable signs to the visible rule of God but one thing will always remain that man now also only strive to turn his spirit there from where alone he can be and will be given insight but this man will also find the way to truth, and the power of God will meet him with assistance, when it is earnestly implored for in prayer

Amen.

Father's words of comfort

Prohibition of books

Whomever draws near to Me remains in Me and I in him and whoever keeps My commandments from now on, he will not die in eternity, because it is I who awakes him from sleep and brings him home into My kingdom. And so insert yourself, My child, into the world-order created by Me, and do not sacrifice your present life to the world that threatens to destroy you and wants to capture you again you do not resist the temptation that will approach you. A quiet prayer to Me and I support you so that you feel My nearness and remain in Me

Such has always been commanded to man, and their heart's voice showed them the right way, but the longing for earthly desire was always far stronger than the will for spiritual perfection and the Divine essence therefore remained hidden from them. It requires full engagement at all times now however, it is an urgent requirement to gather all forces against the enemy of the soul

You are still only wading through murky water, but soon thick mud will make your progress difficult, yes, soon even impossible, and then, put your hands to work, because it will be necessary but the work is on your soul, because from now on you are only for a short time in full possession of your powers and can use these at your discretion ... but soon obstacles of every kind will prevent you from the execution of your will you get into a predicament and will not know which voice you are to follow the voice from outside or in your heart

And you will have to do violence to your own 'I', if you want to free yourselves from dark influences and external command. Begging the blessing of God on everything that you begin is your strongest weapon in the fight for your salvation, then the heavenly Father will lead you out of all danger. In the wisdom of the heart, each one remains, whenever he directs his thoughts upwards, from where alone help can come to you. The same will become apparent to you at a time when the earthly will will stir in you, which wants to lead you aside then take care that you do not stumble, My child the joys of the earth are many but all of them do not outweigh the inner peace of the soul, which is certain to the child of God, who only longs for Me

Only that which is of God must reign around you and in you, and only My Spirit alone shall enter your heart, and what comes from outside, flee from it In the depth of your heart, the divine spark of My love enlivens itself to an ever brighter flame, and what I have once ignited, I never let extinguish again All being and becoming is determined by My love; where this is missing, nothing can come into being because the ordering power, which flows out of divinity, is wisely only absorbed there where the being has striven for an intimate union with Me, and so it follows from this that an everlasting union with Me must also be of such blessing for you that your anxiously trembling heart is protected from every evil influence.

You still live to fight for your soul's salvation, and when you fight in trust in Me and take refuge in My love in every trouble of the soul, you will win for I only allow these fights against you for you to become strong; you are to mature in yourselves, and you are never to forget that I only await your call to be able to redeem you But whoever turns to Me in full faith and trust, need never be despondent he has consecrated his heart to Me with every thought and thus lives in My grace.

Now, My child, listen in spirit to My words: What is announced to you in writing and in print, you receive in the same way as if it came from Me and thereby make it your own knowledge which far exceeds your natural gifts. In this way your senses will slowly develop an image that is in full harmony with what was created in the universe by the divine Creator. And still life will often bring you opportunities where you will ask yourself why the will of the Creator has allowed that those spiritual works - given to man by Me - were taken away from them through prohibition.

This too was done according to a wise plan. Those among you people who hunger for it and demands refreshment, to him this shall certainly be presented but who believes he is able to destroy My works, he will see them rise again because My powers rule everywhere, and where I want, there also no barriers will be set by the prohibition because such refreshment will surely be found, by those who need it, because it is My will.

So you recognize more and more that I am with My love in your midst, that I lead every little heart so that it finds Me and remains with Me for eternity

Amen

Judicial power

Bow to judicial authority, and always see in it the emissary of My will. But where the law announces to you that you are to deny faith, there obey the voice of your heart because I gave you these, so that you are to recognize what is right or wrong Who commands you to refute my word likewise indicates to him that you remain in My will, and you will exist before My eyes, and I will give you strength to offer resistance to such desire. In a dream I want to announce it to you what your office is so that you learn to understand which gift I intended for those who do not shrink from an earthly higher power for the sake of My word.

Because no matter what you are untouchable, because you go through this earthly life protected by Me, as long as it is in My will What should threaten you when I Myself am with you? ... And who resists My orders will hardly achieve anything but a full measure is granted to him who willingly follows Me because man reaps the reward of his deeds. And so the Lord lets judicial authority apply without exception, as long as it does not run against the divine order. What God sets as ruling over the people is to be recognized at all times

For to lead this people, the Lord commissions the higher power and gave it all justice and all power on earth over the people. Therefore be subject to this power, and you will fulfill the will of the Lord But if this power is used to act against God's commandments, the ruler has acquired a power that was never given to him by God, and he is rebelling, as it were, against the supreme power to which he himself is subject Then he forgets his duty, which was intended to fulfill him He does not guide the people wisely and justly, but leads them away from the right path He is not a representative of divine power to the people, but is rather in service of the dark powers

Then everyone must find the right way out of himself he must first and foremost strive to serve God to fulfill God's will and keep God's commandments And if he is prevented from doing so by the judiciary, he will have to fight, but always be supported by the Spirit of God by the Lord and Savior Himself For this world and the beyond, there is only one will, and obedience to it is and will remain the only task of every being until all eternity.

The demons try to influence and stir up everything against the Word of God But if they also take possession of the hearts of the leaders of a people, then the right to be right ceases to exist Then all truthfulness is transformed into lies and deceit Then the righteous must suffer, and the dishonorable will be honored. Then never again can a people prosper, but it will be deformed in thinking and acting it does not remain clean and pure, but becomes false and goes into delusion by wrong ways

But it will not last for ever the truth will break its way through, My word will arise again anew among the people, and the divine order will be restored and what is of good will and believes in Me To those, I Myself will give My commandments, which they will faithfully fulfill and thus also save their fellow man from the night of darkness To send bright light to them, is My love's concern, and if the spirit searches for truth in Me and through Me, then brightness will come to him and he will recognize what is right and what is wrong, and he will know how to act right and follow what I command him because I alone rule now and always

Wonderful proofs ...

Unbelievers have the same purpose ...

God sends you His Spirit, and in the embodiment of this Spirit in your heart, the divine will lays the foundation for new wonderful proofs of His oversized love for people. Whoever once comes into possession of this divine grace can receive the fullness of divine teachings even for an unforeseeable time, without the divine Spirit ever exhaustively depriving Himself But in a number of years the proofs of such extraordinary testimonies of love on the part of the Lord and Saviour will be so widespread that even the worst enemy will be taken aback and will no longer look for an explanation on shallow ground

Only then does the effort and perseverance of the servants of God begin to bear rich fruit, and the Word of God will be welcome to those who seek their God in their hearts and strive for an intimate childhood in God The Lord places the crown of His love on everything that has been commanded so far and will give the unbelievers even more proof of His omnipotence and goodness Where man himself is confronted with incomprehensible things, there the sluggish thinking will be shaken there he will be made aware of a supernatural power in a conspicuous way, and then he will try to intellectually solve the riddle, but he will not succeed.

But these apparent teachings will still have an unspeakably beneficial effect on many earthly children, and many a one will willingly let himself be led by the divine Father's hand over to the right path. Because this is the purpose of the miracles which God works on earth for the salvation of mankind, and by this you will always recognize the Spirit of God, which wants to take possession of every man's heart

Amen.

God's blessing – earthly and spiritually ...

There is no blessing from God for this world if man does not turn to the heavenly Father asking for it. For every action for earthly life already has its blessing in itself in the fulfillment of bodily needs, and no farther blessing can be expected for eternity, because every action on earth is worthwhile in itself Only when man is able to separate the earthly activity from the spiritual, will he appreciate the difference, which lies in the blessing from the heavenly Father.

Every event, no matter how small, upon which the blessing is implored from above and which is begun with the same, bears its fruits both on earth and in eternity. For there is a significant difference between blessed and unblessed activity A thought sent to God let the spiritual beings protecting man, take care of the human child immediately and guide him well and give him advice. And so a beginning, on which God's blessing rests, will not easily fail, and also the corresponding spiritual activity will be accompanied by success, since it is the most important thing assigned to the earthly being

Therefore, always turn to the heavenly Father, and do not start anything without having recommended yourself to His grace. And you will gain priceless goodness your earthly activity will be secured for you, and the Lord will also take care of your spirit and bless it as well so that it will be promoted for eternity In His name you will succeed in every work, and you can go through life untroubled, because the blessing of God keeps away physical worries, and you will become stronger and stronger in the spirit

Amen

Reminder to follow the inner voice

The cornerstone of truth

Know the will of God and always submit to it And when the inner voice admonishes you to consider your bodily welfare as second priority, you must follow this voice and devote yourself all the more assiduously to the care of your salvation, because only he who endeavors to fulfill the will of God, always remains in his grace. Thus you are commanded to work continuously for the salvation of the souls of countless children on earth And in this activity you will raise yourself up to perfection and this your calling will promote you spiritually and bring you immense advantages, but you should also accept every admonition the Lord sends you and then follow it fully and conscientiously, then the guarantee for beneficial activity is a given

But now pay attention to our words and let yourself be guided to see spiritually because there where you seek the truth, you will only then be taught when it has become completely clear to you that your spirit has to reach a certain maturity to be appreciated by the Lord, to penetrate into the areas in which the Lord himself wants to be teacher of His servants on earth. Great devotion great humility and modesty and faithful trust must be the cornerstones on which divine wisdom and bright cognitive light can then be built In order to achieve this, you only have to struggle and pray all the time, because any slackening in prayer weakens your spirit and makes you lukewarm and careless in your spiritual striving.

Therefore listen over and over again to the voice in your heart, which will always admonish you when you are in danger of going astray, and which will also whisper to you when you must pray for strength. Always pay attention to what the Lord speaks to you through the inner voice, then you will remain in His blessing and will not be forced to be afraid because with every prayer you strengthen yourself with new strength

Hostility of evil powers

"Lead us not into temptation"

Be without worry, My child, you will succeed more and more and more to undo the forces of evil that still surround you and will not cease in their struggle, but the more intimately you strive for union with Me, the more ineffective is the power of this Beginning As the wise man has to defend himself against the attacks of opponents who want to diminish his fame and merit, so a man striving for spiritual truth is still far more exposed to hostile annoyances, because they try to make the soul snide, and to achieve this, these powers spare no means.

If you on earth now are so much persecuted by the opposing side, then your will and your strength must be extraordinarily great should you want to resist, because if you know you want to reach Me, then you must fight, otherwise you also cannot receive the reward eternal bliss you gain by seeing Me Will the road become so difficult for you when you know what immense happiness awaits you? Take everything patiently, do not let yourself be made small and fearful. Remain in prayer, and every temptation will pass you by, and the stronger you will walk out of every danger.

My will shall now and always be victorious. Whoever sees in Me to be his goal for will I let a child perish who stretches out his hands to Me and seeks Me? The earth is a valley of suffering, it was created for you, that you may reach your destiny on it and so also all evil powers must be given the opportunity to fight for you, so that you may test your strength on them, because otherwise you will not be able to reach what is intended to be your final goal.

But it is enough in every need of the soul that you call to the heavenly Father that you ask: "Do ~~not~~ lead us into temptation", then your will not to succumb to temptation will be regarded as accomplished resistance against all that you fear Remain always aware that a will to recognize true divinity will leave you at the mercy of such tests, if you do not ask again and again for God's help, which will certainly not be denied you. So pay attention to all your thoughts and acts so that it is not led by evil influences, that you may receive My teachings all the more pure and worthy. My blessing guides you

Amen

Spiritual work ...

Spiritual hunger ...

Divine Grace ...

A bright light of divine love is granted to all those who by virtue of their deep faith in the Savior, put themselves into a spiritual state which lifts them far above earth and which makes them completely unable to strive for the goods of the earth. Because such a child of God, drawn into the spell of his love, willingly giving up everything earthly, is purified more and more in the spirit ... It uses every hour for spiritual work and consecrates its whole life to the Lord of creation. All moments of spiritual creation are blessed on earth, man persists as it were, in activity that leads him higher step by step one luminous moment is enough to awaken in the soul of this child of God to a knowledge that is decisive for time and eternity.

In such blessed moments the Lord Himself is in the heart to find admission, and therefore the spirit is also illuminated in a flash. The Lord and Savior lets the earthly child take a look into His kingdom often not recognized, but this sign of divine love does not remain without effect again others seek God and turn questioningly and pleadingly into the universe also from there will come enlightenment for them because the Savior tirelessly seeks His little sheep, so that they return to His flock which have gone astray. The true purpose of His unending care is always only to bring you children back to the Father

But sometimes the will of the Lord also allows that His children have to live in want until a hunger for the sake of spiritual strengthening This is then a sign of divine care for if you do not hunger for what is offered to you, you easily reject it But what you desire in the heart you will also joyfully accept, and only then it fulfills the true purpose. For if divine grace is offered to you and you cannot measure its value, you will not know what it means to you

Only when you are in need and your soul feels almost forsaken, do you understand the great value of the grace of God you ask for it and are thankful when you are heard and only then does the Lord let recurring signs of His Fatherly love follow His proof of grace until it fulfills you and you long for Him from the bottom of your heart. Then you are won for eternal life then you can well be harassed by the enemy of your soul, but you will never again fall a victim to him, but the love of the Lord watches over you, He guards His little sheep that none will be lost to Him

Amen.

Receptacle vessel

Organic limbs

Purpose of the heart

Behold, it is like a great sea of light, which is to flood mankind. Hundreds of years may well pass before a final enlightenment of mankind can be achieved, but if the Lord dwells among you, everything is possible for His will, and the vessels for receiving the light of truth and knowledge are set up in many places If one of you people has the longing to be united in deep love with his Savior, then he is very likely to be used as such receptacle, and if he then always subordinates his will to the divine will, then he invariably acts only as it is assigned to him.

And the Lord certainly needs many such willing workers in His vineyard where there is always only true piety, which has its origin in the heart and in love, there the Lord works and is always close to him. In this way, the connection between heaven and earth is a constant one and also so obvious that everyone recognizes it if he only wants to want to recognize it and if he wants to try to look with the eyes of the heart, not with his bodily eyes, which, always - more directed to the material - hardly recognize the essence of the Godhead and his work. But it is then always up to them. Each organic member has its purpose it carries out the purpose assigned to it by the Creator's will.

And so also the heart has to fulfill the destiny assigned to it to take up all spiritual, divine truth and so to remain in constant connection with the highest Being, the eternal deity All other functions of the human body have only the purpose to be beneficial to the bodily life, but the heart with its actual activity leads to eternity it creates eternal values for man by taking up and caring for everything spiritual and is a carrier of every spiritual thought, which altogether means true life to man and guarantees him first and foremost, further spiritual development.

If the human heart were not the receptacle of all that is divine, where would the real purpose of life to be sought for you humans? You would come and go from this earth like machine-made products of the earth then your dwelling on this earth would have no further sense than a continuous fertilization of the earth as soon as your body had gone into decay, it would have been dismissed for this earth. The uselessness of such an earth life in the sense of creation must be clear to you or do you believe that the divine creator did not execute His creation plan wisely to create as beings, which after a short time on earth melt into nothing Oh, how spiritually poor are you, who have made this erroneous view your own

Your realization will one day be a bitter one, because the holy will of the Creator can never be revealed to you on earth, if you do not consider yourselves to be what you are ... as children of the Father who went out from the Father, who are to reach the state on earth to be allowed to return to the Father again forever who have only one single task on earth to become like God, to be eternally united with the divine Father-Spirit.

The human mind fails because of such problems, and since it cannot fathom one thing, it immediately rejects everything and sees in its existence nothing more than a randomness to which it owes its earthly life If he knew the way of the flesh, which his soul had already gone before, and if he could live through all the stages internally in retrospect, the purpose of his life would probably be more obvious to him but then life on earth under a certain compulsion or in full insight of his task, would not be of such value for him

Man is to believe what he does not know his spirit is to develop to perfection he is to find himself in love with the Lord and Creator Therefore a human being who succeeds in freeing himself from himself of his own accord to free himself from earthly things Whose life will correspond to the purpose, will be allowed to enjoy the extraordinary grace of God. Endlessly wiser is he who already seeks the connection with his Savior for this short time on earth He has recognized his destiny because the Lord himself has lowered the light into his heart - and to now walk on earth in this light of knowledge, is blessing and beneficial for eternity

Amen.

Constant higher development

Missed life-stage

As the creatures on earth must go through a constantly higher development, so also humans experience an ever progressing development And this must proceed forever if everything is to remain in divine order. That is why standing still or a regression in spiritual relationship is against the divine order, and from this you can assess how serious the consequences of such a persisting in spiritual darkness must therefore be for such a creature and how bitter and difficult it must be for the soul as soon as the soul realizes it's misguided life existence, when it has to recognize how many stages it already had to fight, even if unconsciously, just to reach the stage of embodiment as man, in which it then could form itself according to it's own will ... and it now faces a result that does not in the least meet the divine requirement.

See, it is incomparably better not to have first tried your hand at earth life, because then you are by far not to be condemned as much as having accepted the grace of embodiment, but abused it. As long as you receive warnings, the way to the light is still open ... but woe to those who stubbornly let all warnings pass them by ... That is why God's mercy is so great and His love so infinite, because He wants to lead all these beings over into the radiant, light-flooded eternity That is why he considers each soul and wants to point them to eternity through suffering and strokes of fate because otherwise a person cannot be made aware that there is a higher Being which holds his life, his being and becoming in His hand

The realization of how weak and powerless man is, should suffice to open his eyes - that he then also cannot be the ruler of his own fate, but must be subordinated to a higher Being. Then each man would have to do his utmost to fulfill everything that is demanded by this higher Being Is it then so difficult to willingly submit to the heavenly Father, who in His goodness and love does so infinitely much good to you and Whose only concern it is to win you for the eternal kingdom? ... Pray for illumination of your spirit, and you will be able to grasp to the same extent as your prayer rises from the heart to the Father The more intimately you pray, the more exhaustive the Lord will teach you

Amen.

Why God allows pressure through greed - lies and injustice

Only some faith in God's righteousness will be enough to make you understand everything that is still inexplicable to you If people were impaired in their walk and could never find themselves out of their own free will in faith in our Lord and Savior, what would it be like among you? The Father's holy will indeed do allow at times measures which do not appear at all suitable for the promotion of the human soul and nevertheless so unspeakably much affect these, and certainly rather in a favorable than unfavorable sense

Look at the masses of people is there maybe one who had to miss the love and goodness of his Lord God, if he only turns to where it comes from? But the sense of man clings to external things, and this takes his heart completely captive And so the Lord must first let him recognize how trivial worldly events are, how often whole crowds of people let themselves be led into lies and deception - and the guidance from above, which wants to make people infinitely happy in real love and truth is so easily rejected is not recognized at all and therefore can also its effect not be evaluated by the human children.

Once such masses have come through experience and thought to the point where the difference in rank does not at all protect them from base desires that in those circles greed, lies, injustice and many other things are just as present as in the lower classes, then all this will cause them hours of indignation ... this cause man to turn against such powers in his heart and the falling away from this in the innermost heart and the aversion against all these unfair motives of human actions, then frees up the ascending way for him

It seeks the opposite of what it must abhor inwardly it demands truth, sincerity and justice, and the sense of all that is noble is awakened in man, where it was not previously present He is born, as it were, in the abomination of sin, and (it = ed.) this recognition is far more beneficial to man than when man goes through life without being given the opportunity to know sin and its worthlessness - yes, its depravity. Mankind may well have to suffer hardship and distress through such times, but what are these earthly troubles compared to what is awaiting them in eternity

The Lord leads everything with wise counsel What He permits, always has only one purpose - to lead mankind in its thinking on the right path, and thus a service for the salvation of mankind is also indirectly rendered, where it languishes under pressure and rebels in righteous indignation. So seek to see in every event a means for the advancement of your soul, applied to you in love, and you will learn to bear everything in patience because the Lord alone knows what He allows everything for

Amen.

Intellectual creation and rewardEarthly work and rewardWork in the Hereafter

Behold, My child, no doubt thousands try to form a clear picture of infinity and its prevailing laws, and yet are not able to fathom it, but a single moment can be enough to give them a full and complete insight into the divine rule and work. And all men can prepare this moment for themselves when they direct their attention in their life only to strive incessantly for perfection. If then the human cover, the earthly body, falls away from the soul, then this sees the great miracle of God with brightest brightness and grasps as fast as lightning what a man on earth can never recognize here And to strive for this perfection, is your earthly goal.

When you now want to completely devote yourselves to the spiritual, then you thereby create a possibility for yourselves to also acquire spiritual foresight for your existence on earth, which again is beneficial to you in this spiritual work and effectively supports you in your spiritual work. Because once you have broken through the sphere that seemed to hold you back ... as if with chains ... to matter you will become light and free, and your work from now on will be purely spiritual; but the Lord advises you not to forget your earthly duties wherever you are needed.

Because as you always first have to fulfill your task set for the earth, the work of love will also await you in the hereafter, and a man educated in active creation will also there easily and conscientiously submit to the love duties awaiting him You test your strength with the work of the earth, the Lord gives you His support, so that you can master your task, and if you turn to Him in prayer for His blessing, He will not withhold it from you and you must never be despondent that you might lack the strength for your activity on earth, when spiritual work also captures your heart and the soul, full of desire, turns upwards

The earth's most beautiful reward is the consciousness of fulfilled duty on earthly territory, and heaven's sweetest reward awaits you after the end of the earth-time for your spirit's work And so let both unfold The earth demands of you as long as you stay on earth but everything will become easy for you, you do not forget the soul and your Lord and savior who is always available for you, who intervenes helping everywhere where you ask for his help. In His love you will find power and strengthening at any time

Amen

Doubts about the deity of Christ

Teaching of Christ

Incarnation

Lay your heart trustingly at the feet of the Lord and Master, that He may bless it A moment of light leads you to the top and lets you see the glory of God And again the teachings come forth among mankind through countless messengers sent by God, for the Lord Jesus Christ dwells among you who want to serve Him

And your office will be to accept just care of the dear earthly brothers and sisters and to announce to them the Lord's instructions, because His holy will lets great things happen among you out of love for mankind And whoever follows His word will be called a disciple of the Lord and will work on earth as it were the task of the disciples in Jesus' time on earth. The world-historical event of the Lord's walk on earth still lives on only in your hearts, but you have distanced yourselves from His teaching and no longer know how to live in that purity which the Lord has commanded you, if you want to become His followers because for you the teaching has lost its attraction, because you no longer respect the divinity in the Redeemer of mankind at this time, but only see man and the teaching of Christ as the work of such a one

And this is what separates you from the truth, which also separates you from the heavenly Father And so you will hardly achieve with this faith what your life goal should be For the time of earthly life your opinion would probably not be of great importance, but you stay on this earth only temporarily, and then the actual life in the hereafter follows, which however can also mean death for you instead of life And you must remain in faith in the Savior as the Son of God if you ever want to have eternal life and not fall into eternal death.

But then again the mediator to the heavenly Father will give you all the strength if you want to acknowledge Him for Who He is, and your way will be an easier one than without any help from Him, who after all has redeemed you from the deepest guilt of sin. If faith in the Son of God is to prepare for you the eternal kingdom, then the work of Jesus on earth in all its fullness has shown you the way to it you just have to unconditionally acknowledge the divinity of Christ and must make His teachings your own and follow all the commandments that the Lord and Savior gave to His people on earth.

Under the influence of those who want to destroy the pure teachings of Christ, it has become increasingly difficult for people to accept the teachings for what they are more and more people distance themselves from the divine truth, more and more leave the teachings of the divine Saviour behind and instead turn to its deformed versions but these increasingly slacken faith in the pure teachings of Christ and they finally lose themselves in the false teachings

And today mankind is confronted with an entity that very often deviates from the divine teachings of Christ and is therefore more and more easily rejected by mankind so that finally also the divinity of the Lord himself is more and more doubted, even denied And so we are now facing a time in which a strong struggle for spiritual goods for truth and for the light of knowledge will begin let it be well with him who still carries a desire to approach the truth to him it will come at the right time But how many throw all thoughts of the spiritual absolutely every thought which reaches beyond the earthly world, without further ado, aside

How many people consider such thoughts a ballast that only weighs them down and is therefore thrown away without hesitation To them the glory of God, eternal life, is still so infinitely far And for these the Lord lets His messengers walk through the valley of the earth so that they shall shake the hearts of those everywhere, because God's word shall be proclaimed again and shall testify for all times of the incarnation of Christ God's word is to break new ground nobody among you people should go through life on earth in complete blindness at the very least it should be tried to open the eyes of those so that then only the free will of man would be decisive of the extent to which the efforts of the messengers of God are crowned with success.

During this time, spiritual striving will be especially cultivated where the Savior descends to intervene on His own authority His blessings will be felt in abundance by whoever willingly submits to the divine will and whoever devotes himself to spiritual activity with the intention of serving the Lord. "Teach the weak", says the Lord and so He will instruct in all love everyone who submits his spiritual poverty to Him And the knowledge of such a child will be ever greater if it only always devotes itself to the Savior and is always ready to receive the divine teachings because not a wise man is to be taught, but wisdom is to flow to that child of God, who wants to receive it and pass it on for the right benefit of mankind.

In this way will the teaching of the Lord be spread among you people, regardless of whether you want to accept it or not For the vessels for reception are made ready and will be left there, that he who desires refreshment may label the contents. The will of the Lord rules the whole universe He rules the creature, and every creature will be subject to him for eternity

Amen.

Divine Grace

Spiritual Friends

Dangers from outside

Help

Only a few hear the voice of the Lord, and therefore it is always necessary to remain in deepest humility and to beg for God's blessing ... Each one of us may well be working from the urge of his heart, but all these feelings must be directed towards the eternal Lord, and so he will also be blessed by the Savior to unfold all his daily work But where the spirit does not willingly submit to all orders, it will be difficult to be able to comply with the divine will. All of you who long for the Lord, put yourselves in His grace Not one of you will lose this divine grace if you follow the inner voice that will always show you the right way.

In all spiritual work, the spirit-beings surrounding you, participate with all zeal you are never abandoned, but in the loyal care of these beings - who are unceasingly striving to further your souls - and in this work fulfill their actual work in the hereafter. Only be careful that you offer resistance to all evil influences from outside the danger always lurks around you, you are always exposed to temptations that want to destroy your spiritual work and the work on yourselves.

Leave yourselves also there trustingly to your spiritual friends they repel everything from you, if you only yourselves ask for them and desire their protection. No earth-being can so form itself bring it's soul to perfection when it is not effectively supported by the spirit-beings, and this support will be given to you in such a rich measure when you are only yourselves willing to use this protection. Because otherwise help is impossible for you you must continually create the connection with them through your will, before they can support you most actively, and that in every way, both in the earthly activity as well as in the spiritual work, they stand by you helpfully and help you to accomplish everything for the Lord and Saviour and to work for His glory in eternity

Amen.

Flee the pleasures of the world ...

Without any danger you can leave yourself to us in all spiritual questions we know where it is necessary, and if your soul is still anxious, this is out of the deep desire to prove yourself worthy of the love and care of the Lord For never fear for the loss of an unpleasant possession. And so the Lord wants to revive you today in spirit

Flee all the joys of the world This is His loving admonition but not to take away anything that gives you joy, but only so that you are not incapable of absorbing spiritual teachings You cannot do both at the same time, because the senses of man so gladly turn to worldly pleasures, and these then leave no room for something that cannot be grasped by hand, but can only be absorbed with a spirit detached from the world.

In such diversity, these two terms will touch the human heart man with his earthly body will always have a desire for earthly joy but the more difficult it will be for the spirit to stay in his inner being Man directs all his desires towards worldly pleasures And the concession of the divine being seems far away and unreal to him as long as he has not yet understood that this can only happen as soon as a contact is established between the heavenly Father and the earthly child, caused by his own will to get in contact with the Creator.

This will arise or has its origin in the soul of man, not in any organ of the human body. If this soul is now ready to submit to the Lord, the heavenly Father awakens that holy feeling in you to strive for the union with the highest Being, and as all will of man soon becomes action, so the union has also already taken place as soon as the human will has striven for this, and with the union a new life begins for man a life, which - beside the earthly life and completely for itself - forms the human spirit and lets it mature to ever higher perfection.

Existence on earth as it is, can indeed also occupy man sufficiently so that the fulfilment of all earthly needs is secured through it, but spiritual creation usually bears its fruits only after completion of this earthly existence Where the human heart is imbued with the will to approach the divine Father-Spirit to be nourished by the love and wisdom of the Saviour, there the child of God will soon grow up with such a rich inner life that from now on, his greater concern will be to enjoy the spiritual joys It will no longer long for the world and its joys, but all the activities of the world will appear stale to it, and desirable to it will be only that which spiritually refreshes and delights. And to offer you this, to give you true joys, the Lord warns you of the joys of the world

Amen.

Danger of self-love...Love for God and neighbour...

In every time the Lord God has consolations ready for you, which He then gives you in full measure when you turn to Him in trust. Where the Lord Himself takes care of every being in this way, you experience his grace daily He directs your hearts steadfastly towards the Eternal when you strive only for this. But a tiny measure of self-love already weakens the great power of grace that the Lord conveys to you. For if one puts his own ego first, he will hardly enter the right way or remain on it. For love of God and of neighbor is the highest commandment that encompasses everything should you not first try to fulfill this commandment?

But then you must not put yourself in the foreground All you have and are is given to you by God; and in the same measure you are to give back to your fellow men you are to consider them with all that you value yourself, before you think of yourself, and thus love your neighbor as yourself. In the same way, you also have a share in the divine grace to the same extent which the Lord attributes to you as you have equally attributed to your neighbor. Try yourselves in this highest duty; life on earth will then still offer you such incomparably beautiful things in that the way to the Father becomes easy for you and you, always standing in the circle of light of divine love, can form yourselves for eternity

A short prayer for strength for all right actions will also make this commandment appear easily executable to you, and in a lively exchange of ideas with your spiritual friends, you will penetrate deeper and deeper into the love and wisdom of God, and you will learn to look at everything on earth with spiritual eyes The commandment of love will stimulate you to utmost activity until the end of your life, and then you have not uselessly walked the way on earth, but you have helped your soul to advance. What you have done to your neighbor in love, has already been richly rewarded to you in yourselves, so that through this you have reached a more perfect state and have earned the reward of heaven

Amen.

*The path of development is a constant struggle
Struggle in nature*

Start fighting with yourself and you will win These are the words of the Lord, which He sends to everyone who has the firm will to reach Him. At the heart of Mother Nature you recognize again and again the eternal fight everything wants to prevail. In the plant kingdom, the cover surrounding it breaks through the seed everything that lives on the earth and above the earth, always goes the way of development in a certain fight To overcome the old and to assert itself until something new has arisen whether in the plant or animal life the being will always have to do away with the old cover before it awakens into new life

Exactly the same way also that, which is meant to ennoble humans, is to be reached always only if all weaknesses and errors are fought, before and from these fights a new, better and purified life develops, which must therefore be the actual task of the earth-life The earthly body is as it were also only the outer cover, which encloses the soul, and this again is to fight against all cloudy, all imperfect, which still holds the soul captive If it can release itself from this outer covering If it can emerge brightly and clearly from the fetters surrounding it, it will soon succeed in absorbing the divine Spirit, and it is reborn to divine life

Therefore fight without ceasing because then you only discard of a shell which is hindering you to take up the full light you do not find peace in doing nothing, you do not find the true knowledge, the brightness of the spirit but your soul is cloudy, devoid of light and veiled as long as you do not work on yourself as long as you do not fight in the true sense of the word against everything that hinders you to be able to take up a light spirit in you

For many, the words of faith are indeed a sign from above, they fully acknowledge the divine teachings and yet do not make any effort to follow them they do not unite will and action with what they have to acknowledge for them, the teaching is like a ripe fruit, which is good and was harvested as that, but never enjoyed and therefore, despite all goodness, did not serve the people as food, thus also did not fulfill the purpose that was its destiny It was the fruit of a gift of God, but it was not valued, but carelessly abandoned to destruction

Do not let the blessings of God pass you by Fight and take up into your hearts everything that the goodness of God offers you do not let the spirit be in want What you spiritually gain and even have to fight for, will lift you unspeakably above all earthly things. Therefore, always pay attention to how you can apply the Word of God to yourselves, do not avoid all adversity without a fight, but try to assert yourselves so that you create a soul in spiritual perfection, because constant struggle leads you to victory

Amen.

The blessing of disease and suffering

My dear child blessed, whoever patiently bears his suffering, whoever willingly takes up his cross and is always ready to serve Me. From him I will avert every suffering in a short time. Pay attention to the health of your body and soul, because only then you can carry a healthy spirit within you. Physical suffering requires docile people, if it does not want to deform the spirit, but even if you are content with your fate to suffer, never forget that it is always the means to eradicate defects or weaknesses in you ... but you are also often to blame for the cause of illness and physical disorders yourself Likewise, the forces of darkness also use such means to make you stumble on your way up.

Therefore, have much patience and often surrender, so that the suffering may pass over you in a beneficial way. I bless the suffering that cleanses man and puts the stamp of surrender on him. Therefore, do not fall into the error of rebelling against this, but also thank your heavenly Father for it, because it is again a step that leads you higher to Him And again prayer will bring you relief when it is time. For never does the Father lay a cross on you that would be too heavy for you to bear; he knows what is necessary for you and only leads you through painful ways so that you become perfect. Therefore praise the Father for all eternity

Amen.

And the Word was made flesh...

"And the Word was made flesh" Hear the words of salvation, and give them again to all seekers, for in the embodiment of the Lord and Saviour on earth the wonderful happened the incomprehensible that God's glory was in the being of a man, to bring light to all beings on earth and in the universe For the state of the people was a very darkened one, the light of knowledge could no longer penetrate this darkness That is why God Himself placed His entire divine Being into the outer form of a human being and gave His entire fullness of light into it, in order to illuminate mankind's greatest evil, the night of the spirit - and thereby to clear the way for the soul of man to find its way to true life

The whole universe with innumerable living beings, from the smallest creature up to the most perfect spirit being bend before the glory of God The most sublime and perfect divine being descended to the earth in the midst of His creatures and lived like them subject as man to all laws of nature and for His earthly career, the same regulations applied which accompany every earthly being from birth to death

A hard-working youth in full modesty and a God-fearing upbringing by God-fearing parents formed the bodily human being in such a way that immediately the divine spirit united with this outer man and God in all His fullness of light took dwelling in this human body, which had become perfect according to His will and now the Godhead on earth worked for the blessing of mankind to enlighten their spirits. No significant difference existed externally between Him and His disciples He was not enthroned as king over them, but lived as a brother among brothers. But His divine Spirit filled everything around Him with light and love.

The divine spirit encompasses the whole universe But He was not recognized by humans in His bodiless primeval form. No matter how willing a mind was, it was not able to make the concept of God its own an unsolvable question was raised that transcended all human thinking and in order to solve the question to make this concept acceptable to humans, the eternal Godhead the Spirit of God the epitome of all existence and becoming the outcome of every thought of creation the eternal Light the Word in a human shell on earth And the Word has become flesh

Oh boundless adoration of this most Holy of the heavens and the earth! For it embraces the incarnation of God's infinite love for all creatures of the universe for no being remained untouched by it Wherever the divine Savior set His foot during His walk on earth, there eternity opened up and spread a bright light in the hearts of people, who were not yet completely under the power of darkness.

Such a work of divine goodness and mercy had to radiate and pour out over the souls of those who dwelt near Him. It had to come over mankind like a benevolent rain after months of drought, and everything had to breathe a sigh of relief, since there was no longer any danger of hopelessly perishing in the fire of inner distress For this short time it was sufficiently ensured that people of all nations came close to God, because the teachings of Christ had their origin where the Lord dwelt, but were to be spread over the whole earth One wonderful event replaced another, and the Word of God came alive in many people's hearts, because the Spirit of God gave them the power to recognize.

But just as evil is in constant struggle with good, so too was there a perpetual battle between the followers of the old doctrine and those of the pure teachings of Jesus Christ And this fight was permitted to complete the work of the Incarnation

Amen.

But the greatest miracle is love

But the greatest miracle is love And its power goes far beyond the limits of human thinking. What you lack, the all-encompassing love of God will always turn to you. The Word of God is witness to this, which is revealed to you from the heights of light, for your comfort and edification in a living reorganization For the Lord does all this out of exceedingly great love for the children, to whom He wants to offer an eternal kingdom in heavenly bliss, and yet mankind pays so little attention to the proofs of His love.

The human will to live is so strong that he only thinks of the hour of death with discomfort and where again bodily need or worry weighs heavily, there man longs for the hour of death in the quiet hope of being able to escape all suffering to have life terminated If divine love would not be so long-suffering as to point people again and again to eternity, where would any human have any purpose in life and who does not gladly give his life, his life would pass uselessly, if the Lord would not let him again and again receive proofs of love. But the world cannot grasp the love of heaven in all its greatness the love of heaven

Man on earth knows well that love enlivens everything, but in his earthly state the understanding of divine love is only limited All that he is able to recognize when he brings up the will for it, is that the children on earth are continuously looked after by the heavenly Father and that they can pray to Him and are always heard when these requests are conducive to their salvation. But only few are able to grasp the unspeakably great love that moved the Lord to sacrifice Himself for mankind and its sins. In order to be able to appreciate this mighty event in all its greatness, a bright light of knowledge must already shine for the earthly child.

(27.3.1938) He has to realize that all earth beings are to be granted heavenly glory one day and that God's wisdom over endlessly long times applies all means and ways to reveal this glory to these beings, for only what is perfect and God-resembling can enter the kingdom of God, and again much patience and love is needed to show the often resisting creatures the way which can only lead there where eternal happiness awaits them.

In times of need, man often believes he has been abandoned by his heavenly Father, and yet he is then closer to him than ever. Every deep need is a sign of God's mercy and love, although you cannot or do not want to see it as that For if you, forced by this distress of the heart, turn towards eternity, the love of the heavenly Father has not passed your heart without leaving a trace You have heard the call of love and have followed it

And so the love of the Lord and His infinite patience has been working since eternities and will never stop drawing beings to Himself by virtue of this love In His most agonizing hour, when the Lord suffered and died on the cross for mankind, the divine love descended upon the whole universe It embraced every being and let the divine spark arise in all souls, to give the possibility of a union with God, the eternal love, to every soul, which is of good will and is reborn of love in spirit

Amen.

Reminder...

In such hours as now only one thing is needed leave yourself completely to the Lord and Savior then everything will come together for the good. Give only a little attention to how lovingly the Father guides you all, and your trust in Him will grow. For His eye watches over all of you who are His children. Let nothing distract you from fulfilling your most sacred duty, for everything else in life is only for the world but this is for eternity. And so the Savior instructs you in always the same love He continues to promote the soul-life by increasing your spiritual knowledge and helping you to recognize and follow His teachings.

In what condition the people often are to whom He bestows His grace how often does the heart tremble in earthly need, but if it finds the way to the Father, then he grants the earthly child all refreshment, which it needs, because no-one is to suffer, if the purpose of the suffering is fulfilled that the earth child has truly recognized the Father and desires Him only only a little trust and you can put many a care into the hand of Him who leads and guides you all.

If the Lord is to teach you His teachings, your ear and heart must listen attentively to receive this spiritual gift. But if your thoughts dwell too much on this earth, then it is far more difficult for you to succeed, and so the connection is now more difficult to establish because you lack the inner peace, for which you must fight and ask if you want to reach the goal Pray and you will be able to quickly re-establish the connection

Amen

Mystery of the IncarnationGod's grace and power

My dear child An overpowering thought underlies the mystery of the Incarnation the Lord cannot make all His deepest teachings known to you, since the nature of man does not have the necessary powers of comprehension that are indispensable for understanding. Mankind is dominated by the one thought that the beings of the universe would be lost for time and eternity without the embodiment of the Son of God on earth and this thought may well be pure truth, but it does not exhaustively reflect how far the Saviour's love has sacrificed itself for mankind through this incarnation

There is no possibility of comparison which would allow you to approximately recognize which power was transmitted through this divine work of love to the whole universe to all beings, especially to the children on earth and their souls Grace was bestowed upon each soul to such an extent that man, if he makes use of it, can form himself into a God-like being Because the love that dwells in God then takes possession of every human heart it causes perfect beings to develop out of love, and God the Lord Himself has opened the gates to all this through the incarnation

He paved the way to eternal bliss for the earthly children He redeemed them from eternal death But this eternal life lies in your hand As you create it for yourselves on earth, so it will one day await you. The foundation stone was laid by the Lord Himself, on which you can build the eternal kingdom yourselves But remain immediately aware of how dearly the Father loves you, that He sacrificed Himself for you and to save you from eternal damnation and thus has accomplished the greatest work of love for you and seeks in this awareness to become worthy of this love, so that the Lord may become a true Redeemer from eternal death for each one of you and you may thank Him until all eternity

Amen.

BD 0350 28.3.1938

Candidates for the eternal kingdom

The eternal kingdom is reserved for the faithful followers of the Saviour All those who carry the name of the Lord in their hearts will be admitted to the heavenly realms of eternal bliss who are faithful to His teaching on this earth and bear their cross patiently and for the sake of the Savior without grumbling. For all these, God has sacrificed Himself His path of suffering was not in vain, so as His earthly children followed Him, the essence of the Godhead became clear to them A thoughtless life is lived in vain for eternity, only the everlasting patience and longsuffering of the Lord protects the people who do not want to recognize it, from passing away quickly - and gives them hints over and over again that they should reflect on themselves and finally find the right way

Those who are of good will, are very soon able to hear the voice of the Savior and follow His call but whoever turns away, errs in the darkness of the spirit for a long time until also he will once come to knowledge, here on earth or in the hereafter; but the knowledge in the hereafter is almost useless for him compared to the blessings of light, which man has already found on earth. Life without light on earth is spiritual death But your goal shall be eternal life Therefore seek God, and let His word find entrance into your hearts, so that you prepare yourselves and make yourselves worthy for the eternal kingdom

Amen.

Population Problems

The world and its demands do not need the Spirit of God. Yet no being can ever exist if it has not absorbed the divine Spirit in itself, and is so bound to Him for time and eternity. Hence people learn to know love, for in this time of love everything in them is noble, because everything good flames up in them and then the union with the divine Spirit is much easier than at times when they are only materially attuned and every soft impulse in the heart is suffocated, thus shows nothing of love, which is nevertheless a part of God the divine origin

Although embodiment is a necessity for every being in creation, it is not demanded to strive for a planned revival to life in a fixed period of time And yet it will be demanded that everything born to life is subject to a higher will. In this epoch man himself has no right to determine himself he will be forced to give himself up for the purpose of procreation without love and without inner urge his instinctive life will be strengthened, but his spiritual life will wither away or be completely destroyed if man is not strong enough to rebel inwardly against such measures.

And then the Lord Himself commands you: "Do not allow this desecration of yourselves resist and remain devoted to Me in spirit and in your hearts". You will not have to walk the path alone; the Spirit of God will accompany you and protect you from every danger. But do not lower your eyes before those who want to overturn the laws of creation and form true figures of the night out of divine beings. In this time many of you live with troubles and worries, and this let you betray the voice of your heart. But remain in prayer and adhere to Him who alone commands over everything He will avert all danger from you

Dear child, for these lines there is still a possible postscript, which the Lord still withholds from you give yourself trustingly to all words it is a wise decision, still incomprehensible to you today, but in a short time you will grasp the content. And now continue: Everyone of the many who work for procreation that goes against the will of God will experience in himself the absurdity of his command. It gives great joy to demons to see their work of destruction progressing in mankind, but soon the tide turns, and what follows, separates the pure from the sinful. The blessing does not lie in the nature of the blood alone, but in keeping the soul pure, which nevertheless is inherent in every human being

The Lord of man has put different ones into the world that you should love one another, and do not look contemptuously at one another. All times of humiliation are followed by times of elevation but very often also rulers and regents fall down from their heights when they do not want to recognize His will The same shall also be experienced by those who keep nothing pure any more and leave My commandments completely unheeded

The Lord does not let Himself be mocked by this sinful world, and He prepares the judgment, which for many is a world judgment for others, but also salvation from the distress of the soul. Remain in My teaching remain in My will, and I will save you from the night of darkness and lead you towards eternal life

Amen.

BD 0352 29.3.1938

Population Problems

My dear child, do not be afraid, just believe It is the Lord's most holy will to give to His own, to test their strength in the Spirit. The deep attachment to the Lord assures you of the pure truth it is a sign of the indissoluble power of the Lord As you believe, so you will be considered. But the world is as you have been shown for a short time yet, and you will recognize the truth of His words.

But if the lines are not understandable to you, record the following: A change of life-reforms will demand that you all must change and disregard the commandment with reason. Mankind's striving will be to solve problems of population increase, and this will be regulated in such a way that the course of all events will be to you as horrible as you never thought possible. When two mate, love should be the condition, but if the act of procreation is performed without any inner or soul-connection, this is contrary to God's order, and through this, man lays in the begotten beings the basic substance of all earthly vices and desires.

Because the being of man is destined for a higher purpose, and when already from the beginning of the embodiment the soul is covered so deeply in darkness, then it will hardly be able to free itself from the fetters surrounding it to follow a path full of light, and for the short duration of it's earthly existence, it has to struggle unspeakably if it wants to achieve the purpose of it's embodiment. In times of such aberrations, great signs from above will have to appear to point out to mankind the sinfulness of their beginning.

If people live side by side and do not completely fit into the order of God, the ground is always well prepared to receive bad seeds for the power of darkness. The Lord will take care of His own with infinite blessings, He will protect them from adversity. But your heart is to remain far removed from every doubt accept as it is commanded to you, and trust in the Lord who guides you rightly at all times, if you remain in His will. And hear the words of the Lord: "You shall all serve Me, that I may bless you".

Amen.

The world endangers the salvation of souls...

Nothing is more dangerous for you than the world with it's temptations, which want to pull you again and again into the whirlpool of life where you then forget the Lord and your actual destiny. In the foreseeable future an epoch granted to you in grace will be completed, in which you have been given sufficient knowledge of the will of the Creator through trials and tribulations. Whether you have now made use of this time, is the question the Lord will one day ask you at the end of your days.

Because nothing happens in vain, so also your further life on earth will still bring you enough hints, but man is in the habit of directing all his activity only towards worldly things and of taking little notice of the divine care Therefore, it will also become more and more difficult for him to get into contact with the divine Spirit A human will never be able to grasp the miracle of creation how much less will he realize that he can develop himself to the highest to the image of God if he himself has only the will for it. If you become servants of the world, then you will never ever be able to do so, but if you let go of this and it's temptations, then you enter into a bright state, which offers you incomparably more than what the world can ever offer you.

Therefore take care of your soul's salvation, take note of God's instructions, and above all receive them into your heart, then the soul will imperceptibly free itself from all earthly things that still seem desirable to you now, it will become free from the fetters of earthly desire and will of itself be left to a higher will, and what spiritual pleasures it then offers itself, replaces those of the world a thousand times over ... yes, the gifts of the spirit alone will only appear desirable to you you separate yourselves from everything that still holds on to your soul, and frees it's way upwards. In thoughts about the hereafter in good and noble living in striving for truth and in working in love you will from now on spend your life on earth

Rid of the worries of everyday life, you will receive many spiritual messages, directly and indirectly, if you only pay attention to your thoughts, to the inner voice and to everything that informs you of the work of creation of the heavenly Father. For none of His children has been created by the Father without the ability to recognize The idea of eternity can be awakened and brought to life in everyone who only raises his heart to the Father of the All and turns to Him asking for His grace And will recognize everyone who has only the good will to do what is right and corresponds to the will of the heavenly Father. The Lord Himself leads these from the bustle of the world to Himself into His heavenly kingdom

Amen.

And whoever remains in faith will always walk strengthened through life, because the Lord never lets those who believe in Him become wavering The harbinger of all bliss is faith And therefore everyone who willingly accepts it will prepare himself in all earnestness for eternity. The other regulated living without faith corresponds only to machine-like activity without any further value then man is only a living being, filling the earth's surface without any further use for itself. They can still serve other earthly children as a deterring example, but for themselves however no result remains, which could be of eternal advantage for them.

So the Lord puts Himself also here into the remedy, where deep lack of faith makes man unfit to care for his salvation. He wants to stand by him and forces him through circumstances, earthly need, illness and suffering of all kinds, to think about his own inadequacy. If man succeeds in freeing himself from his rigid view, if he feels that he is subordinated to a higher being and cannot achieve anything without it then he is saved for eternity.

Even if his state does not reach the degree of perfection, the further training of his soul in the hereafter with the knowledge which he gained on earth, will be much easier for him than when he enters the hereafter in complete blindness and obduracy. The wrestling and fighting of such a soul is so arduous beyond all measure that it would he know about it would make every effort to penetrate into earth-life into the miracle of faith with all its blessings.

You find the connection to God only through faith Accept what you feel in your heart as truth, even if you cannot actually prove it that is faith And in this faith give yourselves unconditionally to the Father of creation What you are, you are everything only through Him who begat you, created you You must acknowledge this, because who else gave you life

If the wise teach you differently, then the purpose of life will be missed, because only through faith in the eternal God in Jesus Christ, who came into the world for your redemption you can reach the true life i.e. to grasp all spiritual in and around you, because what you otherwise pursue on earth, be it what it is without this faith, it is only vain work of creation, which is transitory and earns you only worldly benefits, but which is invalid at your parting from this world. And whatever you accomplish.... remember that the next day your life can already be over ...

Who has it in his power to prolong life one day, one hour, when the Lord calls him Imagine this urgently, and then it will seem more advisable to you to seek the connection with the eternal Father than the connection with the world For with the certainty of being a child of this Father, you walk through the valley of the earth much more easily and joyfully than without faith For so you are forsaken and only hang on to treasures of this earth, which only cover your spiritual emptiness but faith opens up heavenly joys and radiant treasures for eternity

Amen.

30.3. (Hugo)...

Those around you welcome you and give you advice Behold, there is one among us whose heart is connected with you he has thought of you all day and was near you, and now he is happy about the connection that is to be granted him for a short time

My love, your thoughts have been with me today, and I sense the power that emanates from you. I want to tell you some things that will bring you joy The world on the other side has many horrors for all of you who are still on earth but man can form himself so far on earth that the entrance into the hereafter is much more of a joyful event for him, and so you must imagine that I am staying in bright, light spheres where only you are still missing You find in your earthly existence so unspeakably much grace from the Lord, and in this consciousness also my life here in the hereafter has become a beautiful one, so that I fulfill my duties with joy and can also often tarry close to you. I observe all your work and give you hints as often as I can, for what spiritual work has come into being through you, bears witness to the Savior's exceedingly great love for people, and for this I thank Him daily and hourly that He has led you so lovingly on the right path. All of us around you want to stand by your side in days of evil and in days of inner struggle. But now your grandmother wants to tell you a few words. I feel your closeness, child, and offer you my farewell in yellow roses. Expect me the day after tomorrow

Where so many surround you, my spirit is also always close to you. It is an important day today, my child, the Lord's great goodness allows us to protect you, and this task makes us all happy we read all your letters and thereby gain so much And now the Lord has given us permission to be allowed to intervene in your life on earth to help you when it is necessary, and that makes us so happy, since we are to participate in all your spiritual work. We will support the work of your hands so that the spiritual work will not suffer any loss, and heaven's help will always be granted to you when your prayer penetrates deeply to the heavenly Father. Now we depart from you and ask the Lord to bless you

You shall find yourselves in My name and keep My commandments, so I will be with you in all needs of body and soul. Let the light shine and help those who are weak in spirit advise them that they will only get well in My love seek to ennoble them seek to point out to them the power of My will give them news of My work on earth as I always walk among you who want to be close to Me, as I am close to everyone who out of his love for Me also gives love to the neighbour.

You all do not yet understand which power is inherent in you as you can work in My will, if you only desire Me Because My will rules over everything, over this your life on earth and also over the hereafter. Nothing remains hidden to Me, and the quiet will in you who are My children, is enough to make use of My will for you You willingly give yourselves into My care, and I fulfill your will, so you are only allowed to want, and you can also carry out what you want. Overcoming the earth will become easy for you in My name; My spirit will enlighten you, and you will see what has been unreachable to you so far.

You will have to experience the seven years full of suffering, but they will pass you by like shadows, attacking and taking away the many who remained strangers to Me, who veered from their ways and did not want to settle into their true destiny To these the Lord will then be revealed in His strength but then such bitter suffering will darken their days that they come to realization in the last hour. If you now pray this news of My word in My name, you will make the way of suffering easier for them The trouble will make them docile, and then still many will accept the teaching of Christ, to their blessing.

My child, always immerse yourself in what My will spiritually created It is your life's work and will bring some things to maturity in you, if you just remain loyal to Me. Your senses and aspirations will only turn more and more to this silent work, and what will then be decided for you, accept everything as My mission, as My will and the expression of My love for you everything flows to you according to My command

You have nothing to fear as long as your heart turns to Me in love, and I will enlighten your spirit so that you will always recognize My will and make all My desires your own Because what I demand of you, I put into your heart and instruct you until you are completely in My will, and then you will be able to work in My stead everything I want Because nothing happens without My will, and in love I draw you to Me and make you into what you are to become

Amen.

1.4 (Birthday)...

Begin in the name of God You will leave your body, and all around you will be clear all light will shine, you will lift yourself up into an area above the ether blue And when there is singing and ringing around you, then you know that God the Lord is near you that you have entered into His kingdom.

Wherever you find yourself in the gloomy days, hear the voice of consolation Your suffering is small compared to the joy that awaits you. And if you give your heart entirely to the Savior, you will draw immeasurably from His divine source of grace, for His children's desire to come to Him, is granted them abundantly. So always rely on the Savior's goodness and love, then your faith will bring you to a level that will certainly lead you to the heights.

Hear now our words: The Saviour urges you to care for the poor at all times, who are on the wrong track because of their faith. Communicate His words to them, for the power of these words flows unconsciously into such hearts Whatever may happen, a grain remains in them, even if the doubt is still great at the moment. But who else shall save them, if not the Lord through His Word Whatever gave you happiness and satisfaction and gives you again and again, will also find its way into many a person's heart, because the Lord will give you the gift of serving His Word in the right place

It is hereby declared to you that the Lord wants to take possession of your body for the blessing of the many who find it hard to believe. Hidden in your bodily shell, the Lord will express Himself and thus give you the strength to carry out a ministry entirely in His will. You shall live and yet be at the commandment of the Lord, until He will one day take you to Himself in His kingdom. Trustingly place everything into the Lord's hands, do not be afraid only believe Then you will always remain in His blessing, and what the Lord offers you will make you infinitely happy already on earth, because His love is always with you

Amen.

Subordinating the will to the Divine will

From the beginning of the world you experience the grace of the Lord As soon as one of you submits to the will of the Lord, the Lord instructs you in the history of creation, and now you are offered knowledge that can never be taken away from you. For it is the will of the Lord, that they may know who desires to know and that they may know the truth, who sees his Father in God A shallow faith never guarantees you a grasp of divine wisdom, but the deeper you stand in faith, the deeper you will penetrate into the wonders of creation and the more intimately you will be connected in spirit with the eternal Father-Spirit

For you come from Him, you are begotten in the eternal light you are yourselves as part of the light a part of the eternal deity If you endeavor to be children of God, your striving is a continued one and is eternally only for reunion with the heavenly Father. The primordial light that was your original being will remain in you, and it is even present as the tiniest spark Because it's nature will always remain the same

However, you must try to detach yourselves from what is a tribute to the world then you will be able to recognize the light; you will long to increase the luminosity of the light you will only want to walk in the light, and it will be brighter and brighter around you until you approach the Father of all light and thus the union with the Father-Spirit can take place, which first lifts you up to perfect, God-like beings, which you were from the beginning and shall remain until all eternity

Thus the destiny of man is predestined, and the Lord has chosen thousands who followed His commandments on earth to bring enlightenment again as light-beings to those who are still enveloped in spiritual darkness In the earthly stage, countless such beings stand besides the earthly children, wanting to enlighten the spirit of so many people walking on earth. All of us who are around you take an active interest in the nature of the spirit of these many Whoever does not bring himself into that state which enables him to draw continuously from God's source of grace, will hardly be able to attain the light of the Spirit For the power of God can only work where the precondition is fulfilled

The willing reception of the divine Spirit in itself only that alone brings the earth-being into the state where the grace of the Lord flows to it incessantly, because everything that arises in the will to reach God can also never perish or cease So too must everyone who strives for it with the Lord, be in constant possession of God's grace, an ever higher education of the human soul, so that it is receptive to the divine Spirit Behold, this is the whole explanation why he does what the Father in heaven wants subordinating his will to the divine will.

He will never need to fear a wrong action, thought or word, because how could he want the same as the Lord Himself and yet do something different The Lord puts this power into the heart of everyone, and only man's firm will lets him also get into possession of this power because this goes out from the Father and passes as if his own, into the will of man, so the earthly child only executes the will of the Lord. Consider this, whenever you give yourself to the Lord, that your inner strength increases and you must inevitably act according to God's will and therefore cannot go astray, if your heart turns to God, the Creator of heaven and earth

Amen.

*Patience and gentleness of the Lord
His goodness endures forever*

We have the Lord's teachings ready for you at all times and give it to you steadfastly in His name, and so we want to teach to you today of the Lord's long-suffering and patience. His goodness endures forever With these words all is said A tiny fraction of a second would be enough to destroy everything you see in the universe, if it were the will of the Lord. And millions of beings would find their downfall at that moment.

But the Lord's creation exists since eternity, and also will the creatures, the beings of endlessly many kinds, exist eternally. But until all these beings have reached the state that they are completely one with the eternal Light, the divine Father, they have to remain

- for you endless times - in the universe, in always new formations and always different possibilities of development. The first stages take place with the order willed by God, and the living beings - or rather their souls - slowly reach the degree that is a precondition for the finite embodiment as a human being

But then, after thousands of years of previous transformations of the soul through ever-changing external forms, it must shape itself arbitrarily to that which is its destiny It is completely left to it to accept or reject the light of knowledge. But since it very often does not recognize its destiny without retrospective consciousness, the heavenly Father tries with endless love and patience to help and thus point out the path which it is difficult to tread, through proofs of His love.

But the Lord is patient His kindness and love lasts forever As long as only a small spark in the soul of man reflects on himself as long as the soul feels the connection, however slight, with the Godhead within itself, the love of the Father is also concerned about this soul and stands by its side in a helpful way until it has finally recognized and implores the grace of the Lord from within, of its own accord, and then the way up is much easier then the knowledge is there, then man or his soul yearns by itself upwards to the Father, and to a yearning child, the heavenly Father is always close and will lead it safely towards the eternal homeland

Amen.

Organized care

Lack of charity

Try to follow our explanations, with which we want to increase your knowledge in the name of the Lord. In stead of the commandments instituted by God, people are now also given commandments with the intention to ennoble the people, but the wrong application of these commandments does not bring about a complete improvement of mankind, but only coercive measures, which at best can be an organized supply, but which do not generate active charity - which, however, would be always more beneficial to the people if they were more diligent.

Years of struggle had to precede to finally bring about such an organization, and material interests have always been decisive in every measure developed in such a way, which is supposed to be an apparent work of charity, but deviates very far from the love, which Jesus preached on earth. People should help each other they should alleviate each other's suffering and misery they should give to the poor, protect them spiritually and physically or save them from need and distress

But are the measures introduced based on this or a similar motivating force that has arisen from love for God and neighbor? Isn't everything rather tailored to raise up much manipulation, to be openly and generally admired and recognized, and which connect far more other interests with the apparent main purpose, but which are to remain hidden from the public world.

A kingdom that resorts to such means in its construction will hardly be able to exist in the long run, because it wants to dismiss the commandments of God as residual and replace them with man-made commandments, only to make use of the power that has been acquired; and in order to let something completely new arise, everything old gets rejected and above all, the teaching of Christ is to be overthrown and branded as man's work, to dissolve this teaching and let something else arise in its place.

The Lord will crush this effort He will not allow His Word to be disregarded and taken away from mankind He will rather announce it much more urgently to the people, wherever someone wants to listen to it, and less and less will be able to stand what man create in arrogance in order to deceive and blind their fellow man All spirit goes out from God, Who is good but the work of Satan seeks to find entrance in people under false cover

It also wants to be of good influence on mankind, but if one pays close attention to it, then one recognizes the origin and sees under the whitewash of the seemingly noble, the worthlessness of such commandments, which run counter to those of the Lord and can never have a beneficial effect on the soul of man. But every final victory is also preceded by battles that you have to pass Take up the fight against everything that wants to reduce or destroy God's word If all of you stand firm as one man then you can never succumb in a fight that you fight for Jesus Christ the Author of the divine commandments Because it is His knowledge that also recognizes the effects of this struggle with foresight What people create passes away but God's word remains in eternity

Amen.

Loving Father's words...

And the ones who are Mine are to be blessed because whenever they call on Me, I give them the strength to strive for their salvation. There will still come times where everything around you appears shrouded in darkness Also then I am close to you, and you have nothing to fear Put your ear to My heart and hear: you are destined to receive the divine gift, My child, and so you will find an act of love performed on you, which is meant for all My dear earth children You remain in deep trouble on this earth and do not pay attention to the saving hand which I want to offer you, but as I am always close to My children who love Me, so I also stay near you, who do not want to recognize Me, and wait patiently until a quiet desire stirs in your hearts a desire for spiritual power and strengthening then I am ready for you.

If you now want to keep My name holy, you are blessed through and through. Let the world threaten, let it destroy Never will its power reach up to your innermost heart This belongs to yourselves, you can confidently give it to your Savior and you will participate in the eternal kingdom with its glory and you will well know how to do without the kingdom on earth, its goods and dignities because My kingdom is not of this world But you, My child, I will always stand by you - your faith shall become strong and your heart shall beat only for Me in love this is how I reward the children who entrust themselves to Me and give them what they ask for

Compare your life now with before Are you not a thousand times happier in My love? And will this ever decrease as long as you give Me your heart? All words which I have prepared for you, are to give you news of My love, and all impulses which I put into your heart, go to you uninterruptedly from Me, because infinite is My love for you people, and I can and will make you infinitely happy. For the time on earth, your spiritual work will bring you such a deep happiness that you will never again give away this your activity

This is how I reward your endurance and your fervent desire to serve Me, My child Always consider love as the highest commandment, and unite all your thoughts with works of love and around you there will be a singing and ringing in the heart of those who feel your love, because everything you do out of love for Me, leads you ever closer to Me and will one day lead you into eternal heavenly bliss

Loving Father's words...

Accept My words that I place in your heart and receive My blessings through them. A heart won by love to see itself lifted up to Me is the most beautiful reward for My efforts, because I desire you, My dear children, and I see in every little child that returns to Me the fruits of My love Your share is bliss, prepared for you out of My love. And My share is your heart fully turned towards Me, which I receive to Me in My kingdom for eternity.

There everything blossoms and greens, there so much beauty is opened up to you that you can bear all this only in perfection, and My nearness will agree with you to exceedingly great joy because all of us are then united by one Spirit one Light and one Love For this, My little daughter, it is advisable to lay down your life when it would be necessary, but your Savior shields you in every danger and averts all adversity from you when it is not necessary for the perfection of your soul.

My child, unite in thought with Me as often as you can, then your strength will grow, your love will become stronger and stronger, and your faith will be strengthened, so that your life on earth will already be completed in fullness of light, because My Spirit then constantly flows over into you, and you seek all happiness only in love with Me You seek to serve Me and to fulfill My will and out of this love turn your heart also to your fellow brothers and sisters in the same love. On these you are to test your strength, which I impart to you to have a beneficial effect on all My children on earth. Give only Me always your heart and your will to own, then your purpose on this earth will be fulfilled

Inner voice

Sovereignty of the soul over the body

Whoever wants to loosen the fetters that bind him on this earth must offer his sacrifice to the Lord he must surrender everything that connects him to the earth he must free his heart from everything that seemed desirable to him until now only then does he rise into a sphere where his soul can recover, where it can free itself from oppressive shells, where it can absorb the Spirit of God and transform itself into the image of God

The spiritual guideline will always be given to him once the urge for spiritual education has been awakened in his heart Then he may only always entrust himself to the spiritual leaders, who were given to him to protect him for life on earth these know best what is useful to him and necessary for the advancement of the soul. But also other opportunities will be offered to him by which he can develop himself higher and test his will because everything comes from God every hint at the deity every admonition to complete himself and every impulse for good will be put into his heart by God Himself, if he only always pays attention to the inner voice, which will always show him the right way.

That now again many do not hear this voice is the consequence of strong worldly stimuli, which try to drown out everything pointing to eternity; it is an inner fight which must be fought out beforehand, a fight for the supremacy of the body or the soul when the desire of the soul wins over the desire of the body then the soul is very soon given the possibility to detach itself from matter and now to fulfill its actual purpose i.e., it will now be strengthened and supported by good spirit beings in the effort to receive the Spirit of God and will so be able to form itself to ever higher perfection.

Because only one thing is necessary: that man understands to place the soul over the body and that, if he has recognized this, he should not slacken in his efforts to give the soul the highest possible development possibility by doing everything that is beneficial to the soul and its desire, even if he does not correspond to the world and its requirements and is forced to go through a life of renunciation on earth. Because only one thing can be good for the soul the world with its joys does not help it to progress, but only the connection with God alone will give it all that it needs for perfection on earth. Therefore man's endeavor will always have to be to turn to the heavenly Father as a child of God, full of trust that He will advise and help him, and this request will not go unheard

Amen

*The necessity of constant struggle
Cleaning through the elements
Storm...*

We are with you whenever you need our strength. The most urgent necessity is to adapt to everything that the Lord lets you endure. For your soul is to form itself in all devotion into that which is necessary for it to the finite maturity of the spirit. Any clinging to unhealthy weaknesses or mistakes is an obstacle to its progress. For a perfect spirit of light requires a flawless soul, freed from all evils, and man can come to this stage only through perpetual inner struggle and constant work on himself.

Search the comparisons in nature How often is a storm the means to remove all evil to chase away all clouds so that the sky will once again be a bright blue sky Unpleasant things always happen in order to let an improvement follow, because everything in nature, as well as with you humans, clears itself up through and after adversity Because the Lord in His wise counsel recognizes and determines that all existence in nature is only purified by elements that stir up rest, and so also man does not promote himself in a state of rest, but would in the inertia forget his destiny and is therefore subject to this law as well, that a purification, an improvement can only be achieved by adversity imposed upon him, which he is forced to overcome.

Only in this way is progress on a spiritual path possible The human heart must learn to decide for itself it must feel that every pressure that burdens it can become a blessing for it, if man can draw the benefit from it if he patiently bears what is imposed on him but if it does not have an ennobling effect on man, all of that is in vain.

So keep above all to the saying: What God imposes on you, you must joyfully receive from His hand, because the Lord knows what is good for you, and you must pass these tests if the Lord's love is to continue to consider you with His grace. But if you trustingly put all your worries to His heart, He will know how to turn away from you everything that seems difficult to you to bear. For his will is not that you suffer, but through suffering make yourself worthy of the eternal joy that He has prepared for you for all eternity

Father-words

suffering

Love

My dear child hold the instruction which I will give you, firmly in your heart consider that every hour is intended to give your spirit a higher development and that you must do everything to reach a state similar to Me. So everything that happens around you is designed to educate you Every word that reaches you gives you news of My will, and in your heart these words are to awaken an active excitement for all good and for love because My Spirit connects Itself with yours, and this can then never remain idle

Without your will for this, My teachings would be without result - but every word always refreshes you when your will follows Me in all things, in all circumstances of life, in joy and sorrow. I am with you and guide you, if you obey every quiet heartbeat, which is again a work of Me a sign of My love. When you give yourself willingly to Me, then you will also feel in yourself how closely you remain united with Me, because the soul that receives My Spirit never leaves Me; it is Mine, and it's days on earth are happiness, no matter how the heaviness on earth seems to sometimes press it.

A perfected spirit lives in a sphere which no longer lets him feel the suffering of the earth in such a way, that is why also an earthly child living in Me and with Me can endure almost unbearable phenomena for the environment without being deeply touched by them Because it remains in My will and therefore the excitement of the heart takes up everything spiritual and has little or no feeling for the physical, from which you can gather that My love is able to protect My children connected with Me from suffering threatening you from outside or approaching you.

If you give Me your heart so willingly that you do not hesitate and are not fickle, everything else - even what seems difficult to you - will bounce off of you You will not need to suffer as long as you give yourself to Me Only a little while longer, then I enter your life with such violence that you will shiver, and then your love for Me shall glow so much that you will willingly receive Me and will be ready for Me at any time. Suffering and bliss, unspeakable happiness and pain, everything will seize you, if you only want to serve

Me always from now on your life will be a blessed one My breath will touch you wherever you stay and lifting your thoughts to Me, will bring you unspeakable happiness.

Because your love is pure and only wants to serve Me such announcers of My word will work as a blessing, and to whom you grant support in their need, they will also seek Me and know how to find Me You must banish every doubt from your heart I stand by you and give you strength, and if you get this at any time from My word, you are immeasurably rich But always pay attention to the purity of your heart, remain true and just, then you will recognize everything and will always understand My words correctly, because I give to the ones who are Mine as they are able to receive

The abundance of spiritual creation guarantees you correct thoughts if you want to remain in this creative power, then always go into yourself and seek to accomplish nothing, but to always unite all your thoughts and deeds with your Jesus, then you will be supported in every situation in life, because if you place yourself in My protection, you who are My children, no harm will threaten you for you see, I am with you every day

God's warrior

God's Word

Granary

Thus, the work of a moment is capable of igniting a bright flare of the sacred flame in man Man leans on everything that gives him a hold in difficult days A peculiar feeling in his heart tells him what is right, and after a long back and forth, only one way remains open to him, the one he is not afraid to take when the full knowledge of the divine truth enlightens him, when he has recognized the heresies of the world for what it is.

Very few are able to receive what is offered to them people will often know how to assert themselves with little resistance when the Lord's most holy will intervenes, but what then speaks out of these people what flows out of these overflowing hearts is not a dead word, but true, living, deep faith in the eternal Godhead Those who will always hear this word, will profess this faith without timidity and without inhibition, Because God the Lord let the speech of those sound powerful and unbroken, and this will likewise find entrance into the human hearts

By this word alone the blessing of God can be recognized, without hesitation the warrior of God is ready to use it, because the Lord gave and took at the same time Out of His hand man received his highest office, and to administer it in truthfulness was his innermost motivation. And that's why recognition is also followed by action because whoever looks into God's garden of wisdom will not turn his gaze back, but he desires to enter, and his heart is longingly turned towards this gate

You will therefore receive teachings that are to convince you of the guiding hand of the Father that are to pass into you as living seed sown by God Himself into the hearts of humans, received by them in full will and guarded and nurtured in love So the word of God must flourish So it must bear fruit, and the harvest will be unspeakably great and rich. For the Lord instructs His messengers to give food to the souls that long for the bread of heaven You shall not be in want, but shall be fully satisfied with the bread of life

Whatever is given in spiritual goods will be kept in the granary of the heart, so to speak - so that the supply is inexhaustible however, thanks to the strength Donor until all eternity He considers those who hunger, and directs His attention to all who look forward to the future with a despondent heart Where will the love of the Savior leave you in need, who fight for His name? But confess Him before all the world, never let the holiest in you wither away faith in Jesus Christ, the Son of God If you have this, then you have escaped from the world and death You will never die in eternity, but have eternal life

Amen

Messages given by God Himself are indestructible

Everything that embraces the concept of the universe has been so arranged by God's wise counsel that it is useful for the further training of the individual beings who swarm through the universe in millions upon millions. The most sublime teachings about the miracle of creation cannot provide information in full depth. For where the natural thinking of man is limited, unlimited wisdom cannot be imparted. Thanks be to the Lord of Creation that He grants you people the extraordinary grace to take a look into a part of creation in order to show you the wonderful work of the Godhead

The blessing of these revelations will not fail to appear; a new fresh thinking will enliven the people, they will listen attentively and recognize the divine Spirit more easily and comprehensively than was the case up to now. The few indestructible values of this kind that God has directly communicated to mankind bear witness to the infinity of the universe, they bear witness to the Divine rule and to the love with which the supreme Being surrounds all other beings of the universe These works will remain, no human work of destruction will have power over the messages given by God Himself to His earthly children.

Let time pass over it, and you will know how wisely all His children are led, so that they may unite and carry out the will of the Lord in common action So only will it be possible to cleanse the earth from the teachings that mislead it, but never will an opposing power influence these words Because without the action of the Lord the world would have to put on a mourning garment it would sink into the deepest darkness, and boundless spiritual misery would seize the earthly children, if not the Lord in His boundless love took pity on them and through again and again new events, would create a way which would lead them out of all this spiritual misery and again onto paths full of light.

You leave darkness in the knowledge of His word, because you will be given so much strength through the word - which you receive in good will - that from now on you will constantly strive and pray for grace, and then your soul will release itself more and more from its fetters it becomes light and bright it recognizes and accepts in grateful joy everything that is offered to it for strengthening and further training, and then the great need is overcome the way to the Father is paved, and His love draws the soul eternally to Himself in his Father's house.

Glowing heart
Shapes of the soul
Power of Love

A glowing iron takes the form into which it is pressed a heart glowing with love will likewise form itself according to My will and you, My child, have the time to anticipate where all unclean things separate from your soul and leave this completely to Me so that I give it the right form and this now formed soul takes in itself an excess of Divine Spirit, so that it is able to comprehend this. In it's purity it has become a vessel where the Savior chooses to stay and will not everything in you be filled with love for your Creator? Will you not tremble with the happiness that the union with your Savior will bring you?

Do not let it occur to you that My dwelling on earth in your midst could ever come to an end I do not let the connection which is once established be destroyed - and your heart will long for Me so fervently that I can never leave you because love always draws Me to you, because I am always omnipresent in love, because I Myself am Love So you will never lose Me, you who only raise your thoughts your hearts to Me The most respectable worldly testimony of honour will not be able to replace you what a moment of happiness prepares in your hearts, if I dwell in it and likewise you will long for no other bliss than My presence

The holiest feeling in you will always be love, but whom I consider with My love, he will never forget Me in eternity But I demand your complete devotion if you want to be Mine. Then you must openly acknowledge Me if you want to be happy in My love, then seek to turn this love also to your brothers and sisters on earth, seek to open the spring of life to them seek to win their hearts and ears for Me, and you will increase the number of My little sheep you will snatch them from destruction you will have a share in their eternal life, as soon as you have brought Me, your Saviour, to them

You all do not know the power of love you do not know the greatness of guilt in which the enemy has entangled you Wherever you are with this guilt, would not My love erase it and kindle a little light for you, so that you do not walk the path of life in darkness and therefore go astray I demand nothing more than your heart, but this completely, so that I can form it according to My will, when you completely sacrifice your will to Me.

Become like children, let yourselves be guided, let yourselves also be punished where My love considers it right so that you learn to love Me more and more intimately and turn your whole being towards Me then you have become in fervent love so that I can form you into the most beautiful form into the image of God Oh you do not yet recognize the love that can transform you overnight into the noblest, clearest crystal into the purest gold into the brightest light Therefore love God the Lord over all and love your fellow men Because only out of love will you be able to be immeasurably blissful until all eternity

Creative spirits

Free will

All thoughts are born from eternity An army of creating spirits fills the infinite expanse of heaven. But man is given only the possibility of animating a very small particle in infinity with his thoughts and ideas. Everything else is subordinated to the world of the creative spirit beings, which, always carrying out the will of the Lord, are untiringly active in the world domain. Matter in the whole universe is subject to these beings, and what is willed, happens

Such an army of these spirit beings also now surrounds the earth and intervenes decisively in all events on earth, but also leaving space and power to the forces that work against the will of the Lord, because the earth must be influenced from both sides, because otherwise the most important thing in creation would be eliminated free will A being cannot develop to godlikeness, if it's deeds and actions only has to be as a higher being determines it It has to keep the self-determination over itself, it must be exposed to both, the good and the bad power - and then be able to express it's own power of judgement an inner effort must begin, to be at the service of these or those powers

But the army of spirit-beings, which looks after you, remains immensely active in it's work what you take for granted in nature around you and above you, is constantly produced by these beings, who at the same time also thereby intervene in your innermost being, because they form you and constantly direct your thoughts towards creation they give you, as it were, insight into their activity they cause you to be viable in the first place, precisely through the sphere surrounding you that you must recognize that you can form from yourselves, in an environment created by God, what you are striving for

Imagine the question: Which of you humans is only given a one-sided possibility of perception which of you cannot recognize good and evil at the same time around yourselves which of you lacks the ability to distinguish good from evil? So where nevertheless both are present, also humans will be able and will have to decide necessarily for themselves what they desire and so the free will is first active, in order to clarify the desire of the soul. And again the great blessing is evident from this, which an intimate connection with the spirit-beings surrounding you entails

The more trustingly you subject all your thoughts to these, the more surely you will be guided and the clearer your thoughts will be able to perceive good and evil, you learn to recognize and turn completely of your own free will to that which guarantees you the highest perfection You must then become perfect when you are guided by the most perfect beings who can ever surround you. You can never fail, because the power of good will have far more influence on you than that of evil. And that is why you will also certainly enter the way to eternal life when you devote yourselves to the powers and forces which carry out the will of the Lord, you therefore willingly submit yourselves to the heavenly Father.

Amen

The disciples of the Savior

The Jewish kingdom

In all his time of suffering, no-one on earth was as devoted to the Lord and Saviour as His disciples, who loved Him and would have liked to keep every suffering away from Him, if it was in their power As many as gathered around Him, only a small circle was so imbued with His divinity that they recognized in Him their Master, their Divine Creator, and where all light from Him flooded into their hearts, soon even the slightest doubt was choked In Divine perfection of their being they soon saw the only goal of their life

In the purity of His heart, everyone soon realized that following Him was essentially the only important thing on earth they realized that none of them could reach this perfection unless the Lord Himself let His grace come upon them continuously, and furthermore they realized how important serving one another in love was for reaching perfection Their striving now was to make themselves worthy of the grace of God in deepest humility and self-abasement They left everything, they gave up the world and lived only in His teaching, which the Savior taught them in daily dealings with them. Thus, no other event than the constant dwelling in His proximity brought about that their hearts were filled with oversized love for the Savior that their knowledge of Divine wisdom increased the longer they experienced and recognized their Master

They received with the heart, and God gave them the strength and grace to understand all that He offered them For never would they have been able to find their way in these wisdoms without the help of the Lord never would they have become aware of the greatness of the Lord without Divine enlightenment and never would they therefore have recognized their teacher as the Son of God if their spirit had not been enlightened by the Divine light. In frequent tribulation of the Spirit the Lord came to their aid whenever they felt weak because the Lord saw only the love that made His disciples worthy of Him As a result, He did not leave His own and gave them comfort in every difficult hour, but also demanded their full commitment when He was no longer when He returned to what is His Father.

Because the earth carried an enormously vital people at that time It was the tribe that was destined to spread Christian doctrine, true Christianity it was the Jewish kingdom His desire to save this people from the plight of the soul did not resonate with them they laughed and mocked Him they were represented in exceedingly strong numbers to bring about the downfall of this Son of God, and never let themselves be moved to accept faith in Him as the Messenger of God They saw in Him an enemy of their teachings, they saw in Him nothing more than an exceptionally gifted orator who took advantage of His gift of speech to make the people apostate from the teaching of the fathers

And since they remained in sin and filth, they could not get the enlightening of the spirit they rejected any love of the Lord and repaid it with abuses and the final intention to seek His life And His mercy and kindness forgave them With angelic patience He directed their speeches to them, for His heart turned to each one and sought to save them. But the omnipotence of God left these people their will, so that the word that the Lord came into the world to redeem mankind would be fulfilled.

Amen.

Anthroposophists?

Poem

Softly the words of the Savior sound in your ear Become like children, and I will give you My blessing, and if you believe My words, you will never lack strength Show everything that could shake your faith, because only where the light born out of true humility shines, there also My Spirit will find entrance, but not in caves surrounded by stone walls these are the hearts drawing all their wisdom from artfully constructed and laboriously assembled human construction the endlessly many writings of arguably truth-seekers, but the childlike faith of averse humans, who created a doctrine themselves, which presents God as unreachable and of difficultly attainable nature who live in the belief that in the world it is always only man who is destined to come closer to truth and knowledge, who acquires knowledge himself through long, laborious spiritual work i.e. work of the mind, which in turn was acquired in the same way, but never has the pure work of love, humility and unconditional devotion to the will of God as it's basis

Only on this alone true knowledge can be built and acquired Everything else leads over time away from the actual truth, even if it has it's origin in the same way - and in the end it becomes an entity that no longer corresponds to My teaching Flee all that arises in times of spiritual arrogance this can not - never ever agree with the full truth, you will always receive the Word of God purely where you leave the guidance of your spirit completely to the Lord

You shall indeed strive unceasingly, but not for mere intellectual knowledge, but rather for your own perfection for the perfection of your soul, which you can only achieve when you are eager to form your heart first by practicing love, humility, gentleness and when you not least implore the grace of the Lord and gratefully accept it, because without this grace, your struggle is in vain; you are then like a cold, lifeless mass which does not feel the invigorating breath of Divine grace and without this cannot come to the life-warm maturing of yourself

You may well harbour a conscious spirit, but this spirit cannot give you the true life that the Lord alone promises to those who remain in Him Therefore no danger is probably as great as that of exaltation, because it excludes everything that is a precondition for the only true knowledge And the struggle of these souls will be in vain until they too surrender more and more to Divine grace until they have recognized the dead path their souls have taken

(The true light, the true life, is given alone only to those who find the Father as a child who alone only overcomes what opposes him But all of you who seek without God's source of grace, will not reach the goal Your spirit will only be light and bright when the world of your soul opens up if you ask for the grace of the Father in the manner of a child then you will recognize the spirit of love that leads you and you will praise Him to Whom this praise is due)

Amen

Reasonable will to transfer
Inner Knowledge

A man of understanding will always make an effort to accept the teachings of the Lord, but if he lacks any will for it, then he never sees in these a gift of the Lord, even if he cannot unravel their origin. And so a barrier will always then be set to your endeavor when it is based on a mere intellectually correct will to transfer. Only then, when the soul resonates, when it succeeds to awaken innermost emotions so that through these the urge for union with God fills the people, also the Word and His teachings will fall on fertile ground, and then the activity of such a soul will find no limits to be in the will of the Divine Lord then the intellect understands as quick as lightning because the soul is simultaneously active.

So man may well strive to live himself into such problems, but if he still lacks the power of inner knowledge everything is still dead in him and can only then unfold and form when the teachings influence his thinking in a truly living way the process of recovery can only then begin when the mind of man seeks the Father alone and finds the right relationship with the Father.

But this should not take away your courage always there, where the resistance is great, loyal helpers support you, and you know that just as many spiritual beings strive for such hearts and thank you for all support. Because your words do not fade away without an impression So many words arouse interest of those present, these will cause a connection to be sought and found in further events, and if the person has taken the path of searching in this way, then success can no longer be turned away from entirely ... even if it seems a long way off.

What moves the heart of such a person the most? The history of creation with its many questions, which seem unsolvable if now in this area a satisfactory explanation is given to humans, then already everything else loses improbability they then look for everything with the eyes of one searching God and success will not be absent, because who walks the way with God, confessing the true faith, will be correctly guided from that hour on

Divine Commandments
Work of the spirit-beings

Hear the Lord's instruction Thousands of beings live in His realm, to whom the pure keeping of the Divine commandments was given as law, but who never bother to fulfill these commandments. In such a case it can hardly be assumed that they could possess the same power of judgment that they can recognize the value of these Divine commandments the surrounding spirit-beings, however, have in their orderliness no further desire than to bring the most possible enlightenment to those who so dwell in the darkness of the spirit and therefore it is continuously shown to them how everything on earth becomes invalid when the commandments of God are not recognized.

The wrath of God hits all those who work against His Word, for they willfully destroy the cornerstone of all the building work for eternity Without this Word of God, even he whose will is good would grope around in blindness And so it builds up on only that which can make mature and perfect for eternity. In order to be able to obey the commandments of God, it is necessary above all to teach what the Lord demands.

No being has the gift of being able to penetrate into the deepest wisdom of creation without any instruction from the Lord Likewise, no being is able to subordinate itself to the will of God and then carry out this will if it is not informed of it's task, the fulfilment of which first guarantees it the state in which it then receives the gift of knowledge of it's destiny in the universe One cannot be without the other, one must properly follow the other, and so above all the transmission of the commandments of God is indispensable, because only then the work of man on himself can begin, because to climb the height, he must have fulfilled the preconditions

Who now believes, without such self-activity, without this work on himself to be able to fulfill his purpose on earth, is so immensely mistaken that the surrounding spirit-beings have a painstaking work to explain to these earthly children the adjustment into God's order and will, and this can only happen through hints and suggestions, which on earth concern the people themselves and which, seen on a small scale, establish exactly the same relationship as that of the child to the heavenly Father that therefore everything you owe to the heavenly Father, you also demand as a matter of course from your fellow men that you then touch yourself perceptibly when the fulfilment of such earthly commandments remains denied to you, and that you recognise by it how you still deny the same to the Father, who can expect it from you to a far greater extent.

So then the objection can never again be raised that man is not able to recognize the commandments of God as the teachings of God he cannot suffocate in his heart the voice that speaks to him, and he will therefore never be able to refuse that the same thing that he demands, must also be demanded of him if he wants to make himself worthy to live in the community of beings who are begotten by God and are to strive for the same the union with the eternal Father But this presupposes first a willing submission and in addition also the commandments of God are given that you - above all - place your will under the Divine will because only then you can be one with the Father when you are of the same will

Knowledge

Inner life

Difference in the value of spiritual and earthly knowledge

An insightful person never has the desire to penetrate into God's deepest wisdom just to enrich his knowledge, but he will seek connection with God from this knowledge He will never be satisfied with just knowing. What seems much more valuable to him, is the relationship that connects him with the Creator of all miracles And once he has found the right attitude towards the Creator, only then will knowledge bring him the blessing

Because what use is all this knowledge of things to man at the end of his days if he has not made use of the value of knowledge in the time on earth. And yet humans demand again and again to enrich their knowledge This is also a gift that the Lord himself gives to him on earth The urge for always new knowledge is innate to humans Why would everything be in nature, in and around man himself Everything is again and again a reference to the eternal Creator, and his Spirit is active in man, when the thirst for knowledge begins to stir in the earthly child All these peculiarities point to an intervention of Divine power already from the beginning of the earth's existence.

The inner life of the human being is an area completely separated from the actual body. No violence from outside, no foreign will can have a determining influence on it, if the human will itself does not accept such influences The inner life is something which humans can always determine completely independently which it can richly and invaluable arrange he can also let it lie fallow or locks it up so stubbornly, that no beam of light can find it's way in.

That he therefore does not absorb spiritual knowledge but enriches himself in earthly knowledge in such a way that it fills him completely and he is then incapable to absorb Divine wisdom in himself, yes such appear to him as questionable, and he is therefore with all his earthly knowledge a completely unfit being when leaving the earth. If man is wise in heart, he will not overload himself with earthly knowledge, because this is useless for him, but if he lets the spiritual activity - the urge for spiritual truths - blossom in him, he will act immensely wisely, and the wealth of his soul will increase in imperishable goods

All knowledge which the Lord imparts to you, has incomparable value in the sense of creation but all earthly efforts for learning will not be recognized one day, when the value of the soul is judged and rewarded; for the wise of the world will be ignorant, and all earthly striving will earn them no reward, but will stand above them, who will always receive the gift of God - the Divine wisdom - with thanksgiving, for they will be blessed by the Lord

You must never despair; the Lord will always be with you who desire to live in His will. What the Lord imposes on you is only to strengthen your faith and to increase the longing for the Lord, because he wants you to be completely absorbed in Him He wants to build a house which firmly and unshakably defies all onrushes from the outside, and you must fit in with the will of God and take everything upon you in patience and submission and always let the Lord rule, then the building will be rightly done, for the pillars of which the Lord has chosen you

And now, My child, we want to satisfy your desire and strengthen you in an extraordinary reception, because the Lord wants to announce to you how your farther life should be In a short time you will be approached by someone whose will it is to contact you for the purpose of printing the writings This will be in a circle which you do not know yet the foundation of this circle is also to serve God.

And therefore everything that is undertaken there will be blessed by the Lord. In this situation you must then not doubt you must always know that the Lord guides you and leads you to these brothers and sisters on earth, that you are therefore completely in His will let the Lord continue to rule there, unite with them, and let your heart only always turn to the Lord, then the right thinking will always enliven you

But now you will have difficulties, which arise from the respective commandment that meetings for the purpose of spiritual training are not permitted Do not allow this to frighten you all where the Lord dwells among you, this commandment will be ineffective for you During this time some of you are filled with anxiety, fearing that the building will collapse But always trust in the Lord what He has given, shall be a blessing for thousands more

Do you believe that these signs of His great love for you human children can be destroyed by the hands of people when it goes against the will of the Lord? So just always make sure that no foreign being gains insight before the time So that the course of events is not made more difficult so that no premature intervention is made before the work is completed.

For you are always surrounded by enemies, and therefore extreme caution is necessary so that you do not trust indiscriminately everyone who approaches you But the Lord will give you signs in due time. And now trustingly put all your care, your thoughts and your spiritual work into the hand of God The greatest protection is prayer, which you trustingly offer to the dear Lord and Savior "What you ask for will be given to you", the Savior calls out you, who are concerned about the needs of the body and soul. Become like children and you will receive everything you desire

5) Whoever of you will be a friend of the poor with all his heart, I will also be a friend and true brother to him, temporally and eternally, and he will not need to learn the inner wisdom from another wise man, but I will give it to him in all fullness in his heart. Who will love his nearest poor brother as himself and will not cast out a poor sister, whatever tribe and whatever age she may be, to him I Myself will come all the time and reveal Myself to him most faithfully. To his spirit, which is love, I will tell it, and it will fill his whole soul and mouth. What he will then speak or write, that will be spoken and written by Me for all times of the ages.)

Transmission of intellectual knowledge

The Lord sets barriers

He who selfishly desires to be accepted into the circle of the knowing, abuses the goodness of heaven he who never tries to give of what he receives To these the Lord has shown His love, but they do not show the same love to their fellow men, and so the soul can also never detach itself from matter; this knowledge is then the same as that acquired by itself It is not reckoned as progress of the soul, but only as a dead reception of what is lively transmitted to it.

Tell this to those who remain in matter for the sake of earthly advantage, refer them to the words of the Lord: The most important thing in life is to follow the teaching of Christ, and never can he follow this teaching who does not willingly give what he receives. In your immediate surroundings it will become clear to you how the following of the commandments of God works, but the one who willingly passes on the words of the Lord, will always remain in blessing.

People do not pay attention to the need of their environment, and so they do not give help where it would be so necessary Whoever lives in grace, knowing about the love of God, should be concerned to help them and, in the inner knowledge of his own need, learn to understand the need of the brothers The will is often not lacking, but some earthly children are close to their own well-being, but that of their fellow human beings does not particularly touch them This is not love as the Lord preaches ...

Self-interest will diminish such a man's own merits, and limits will be set for him from hour to hour in the recognition of Divinity. Self-love tarnishes the intensity of the light but it is required of the souls walking in the light to contribute to the enlightenment of the spirit of so many erring ones. And when then the hour comes which the Lord has chosen for justification, then many voids will be revealed, where active love was the innermost commandment. Only the consciousness of being graced by the Lord, always giving oneself full of love to one's task and to also allow others to participate in this grace, will give man the maturity that is necessary for love-work in the hereafter.

"Let it be My concern", says the Lord, "where I want to set the barriers of spiritual knowledge no-one is to believe that I will dispose of Myself and My will" And where restriction is commanded, there I will certainly intervene at the right time but those who I appoint to work in My vineyard - you must not command those who have not yet fully recognised grace.

But whoever will make an effort to accept My word, him I will admit to My flock; who serve Me I will guide them Myself, so that the way to faith becomes easy for them To give oneself in all love to the concern for the salvation of the earthly children will always be more beneficial than brooding over what human knowledge cannot fathom and therefore accept the words, given by Myself, faithfully and into your hearts then you go the right way

*Clarification of the precondition for the soul's union with God
Help the erring*

If the Spirit of God stirs in you, then what was dead until then will live, the soul will arise and rise it will leave its cover and always seek only the light, and what is then born of this light will never pass away in eternity And so the Lord has given all beings on earth the ability to receive the Divine Spirit, when only the desire becomes lively and man sees an extraordinary task in his existence. Because the connection with the Divine Father-Spirit must be established again and again in order to attain eternal life, the association will have to be preceded by laborious work the work of the purification of the soul, which is to finally receive the Spirit of God.

This purification of the soul can again only take place when it's desire turns away from matter, when it willingly gives up everything that has hitherto bound it, in order to exchange something far more delightful for it in order to enter into exactly this connection with the Divine Spirit Nothing may decisively influence the soul, it must reflect out of itself on it's task, it must want to progress on the way of the knowledge it must also simultaneously put the will into action to unite with the heavenly Father. The so formed will then always remains subordinate to the Divine will

Afterward the Spirit of God no longer permits a decline, but whoever once treads this path and is finally in the will of the Lord, remains connected with Him for time and eternity. The Lord will never leave such a soul to itself the first requirements are fulfilled, and now such a soul strides constantly upwards and remains in the Divine mercy-sun but there is one thing it should not miss to draw the attention of it's own kind to the warmth of this sun of grace ... For darkness so boundlessly shadows so many beings - that every child on earth who is gladdened by the Divine Spirit, is to turn to these full of mercy, so that the morning also breaks over these and many of them may go toward the light.

The Lord will reward you a thousand times over for the love that you give to these beings, because it is necessary to save all these from eternal damnation. And whoever has received the Spirit of God into himself will recognize how unspeakably difficult some souls are to untie, and will therefore meet them lovingly and give them what he is able to, so that like him, they may receive the Lord in brightness of spirit, to remain in Him for eternity

Amen

Divine powers

Outflow of the love of God

Your life path will always be governed by the laws that your heart dictates you to fulfill You must walk the same way as all those whom I have commanded to stand up for My teachings. In the same sense you must also work for Me, but always let the concern for the salvation of souls prevail Beware of your own judgment of those who are in need of this care; I have destined all My children for eternal happiness as soon as these turn away from Me, My love is doubly concerned for them, and in this world the struggle is immeasurable, where it concerns these souls If divine powers rule around you, which have nothing in common with the earth, and you let their blessings pass you by, you will have to struggle again for a long time before such grace flows to you for what is of value besides what is of above ... and what desires entrance into your heart ... In such need of the soul the Lord has mercy, He gives what you are willing to take He fulfills your heart's longing and awakens the Spirit So everything that enlivens you in spirit is an outpouring of My love for you, and when you understand the deep meaning of My gift, then you are free of all cares.

Never leave the way because I Myself walk among you you will walk in My power, and where this works, your heart does not need to fear. The deed shall be important to you because through the deed you prove to Me that you recognize the highest in Me when you follow My words, you confess My teaching Then your work on earth is only visible by exercising My will Bring your life's work in harmony with My will, then nothing will frighten you anymore, because I want to dwell among you in such a way that you should recognize your Divine Master

Who only strives for himself, does not use the power given to him He searches for things that are hidden from him, as long as love is not active But if this is the driving force, then he can form himself, he will be able to use his knowledge for this time on earth in a joyful way he will willingly put himself under exile, which in turn redeems him he will know thanks to his Creator for time and eternity, because already on earth, fulfillment of his longing has become him to draw immeasurable grace from the fountain of eternity of Divine Love

Word of God

Power

Grace

Unlimited gift of the Spirit

Follow My instruction You will find everything confirmed what you were told that you are among people to whom the gift of God is inexplicable and who nevertheless long to hear the words. And now you experience in it the wonderful that the Lord makes contact with you according to necessity, because He looks into the hearts of those who long for Him. And where their thoughts turn upwards, there the Lord soon shows them the right ways Behold, it is the will of God that His Word be fulfilled for the future. You will always unite when it is necessary to serve Him, and for the time on earth you stand in His protection And again the name of the Lord alone remains the gate through which you enter His kingdom Because if you confess Him, you remain in His grace, but if you let His word die away and do not receive it into your hearts, then you lose this grace, and without mercy you lack strength, and you will tire in the struggle of life and the soul's burden is terrible it struggles and does not become free of its fetters when it lacks strength, and where then is the benefit of your existence on earth? How can you recognise the Lord where the Spirit remains shrouded in darkness?

The words of the Lord convey His grace, and His never-tiring love prevails visibly when you only beg the Lord for it, He does not deny this to anyone but again and again the desire must prevail to get into contact with the Lord; you can escape all evil, if only the will is present in you, and likewise you can receive the gifts of the Spirit if you have desire for it because God the Lord divides unlimitedly towards him whose desire is unlimited.

He has His word ready at any time who only wants to hear it and always opens his heart, will be richly considered and will no longer need to hunger and thirst for the truth, and in the same way the power will be received by whoever obeys this His word, because it then flows living strength to him, so that the promise comes true: "I will refresh you with My word"

Only a little trust, and you can achieve endlessly much, because the Lord helps you in every need And therefore do not resist when the reference to the Word of God enters your life then pay attention to this reference, and you will achieve everything to reach maturity only your will must be good and gladly submit to the Divine will and then you feel the hand of your Father in heaven, which stretches out towards you, and whoever takes hold of it will be rightly guided until all eternity

Persevere in the will of God

Revelation

"My Father"

Reward

Blessed are those who always remain in My will. Behold, there is probably nothing of such value on earth as the everlasting perseverance in God's will. And as you have been given the power to think and act according to your own will, so it will be the merit of everyone to sacrifice this your will to Me completely But then you have chosen the best part so will increase your knowledge, your power and your faith, you will know how wise and how well you will be led You have handed over your responsibility to the Lord when you submit yourselves to His will, and now you are in good hands.

My child The Spirit of love will be revealed to you, so that the whole being of the Godhead fills you up. For such hours your heart gains a supernatural receptiveness and then everything that comes to you in spiritual teachings will delight you so infinitely

My child The Spirit of love will be revealed to you, so that the whole being of the Godhead fills you up. For such hours your heart gains a supernatural receptiveness and then everything that comes to you in spiritual teachings will delight you so infinitely You will be taught such teachings in a light and vivid way, which you cannot grasp in any other way but easily and understandably to your senses you will receive information about things that will amaze your mind and spirit The greatness of the Divine creation will be recognized by your spiritual eye in view of these revelations, and this penetration into Divine work takes away every doubt for you then the love of God will seize you with such force that your heart turns more and more in loving desire to your Savior, and the more closely you now desire Me, the closer I will be to you and protect your body and your soul.

My greatest desire is to completely possess your heart as well as the hearts of each one of My children then only when you have given this completely to Me, I can form it according to My will, only then has My love and grace influence on such a heart, when nothing and nobody except Me has a share in it what is offered to Me will be seized by Me and not given back because it is God's will that everything is subordinate to Him and whoever says "my Father" to Me with devotion is to feel Fatherly love in all it's fullness. What I have prepared for these My children is already destined for them since eternity.

But if you fall victim to the mistake that you already desire to receive the reward on earth and you do not learn to be modest in patience, then eternal happiness will hardly await you, but you have already been sufficiently rewarded the deeds on earth in the joys of the world. Therefore do not worry about goods of the earth, willingly give everything away, and with all your power and strength of will only strive for the eternal reward by you accepting My guidance and always only wanting what My will is. Because he who looks after you during your earthly existence certainly wants the best and most beautiful for His children He does not want the soul to perish, but that it has eternal life

Purity of heart

Inner humility

Self-knowledge

You will be given a full measure for your earth career, the more diligently you must strive to prove yourself worthy of this measure, and so everything that is to bear witness to your love must also be applied where the spirit of discord prevails because can a child, which is in the grace of God, be worthy of it, if he does not always endeavor to express a pure sound, where the understanding for it lacks Spiritual connectedness is guaranteed to everyone who strives for it, but only those who cultivate the purity of the heart are allowed to know the deep truth.

It is of great value for you to be able to receive in boundless devotion what others still have to struggle for exceedingly, and in spite of everything, the inner voice must also announce to you if you are lacking, otherwise a maturing a perfecting of your soul might not be possible. To work incessantly is the only way to reach the state where union with the eternal Deity is destined for you. Instead of the realization of your own inadequacy, however, you must never again allow arrogance

This is the danger for every being exceptionally gifted by God, that it very soon loses its inner humility and then loses grace. Beware of all things, for God's love of the Father has set you such a glorious task that you must do everything to remain in His grace. Only then, when you feel low and small, will the power in you grow beyond you. Then you will fulfill in the sense of the Lord what you are destined for.

Submit yourself completely to God's will, so His providence will always care for you, and you will still be able to work as a blessing, because everything that the Father does for His own, is arranged in wise foresight, to help them to light and knowledge. So the fruits of your labor will be given to you already here on earth and one day in eternity, but always recognize yourself, and strive for the purity of your heart, which always guarantees you the love of the heavenly Father

Amen

Flower garden
Heart of the human
Virtues
Poem

In the garden of the Lord many flowers blossom that need diligent care, and all these flowers the Lord lets grow under His supervision. Every seed in this garden was sown by the Lord Himself, so that a noble plant would develop from it, which in turn would flourish and blossom for the joy of countless beings So also the Lord has chosen many a child on earth to lead a joy-awakening existence among His creatures, which also arose out of His power, like wondrous flowers that make people happy They are nurtured and cared for by a loving hand and yet through their existence they exert an influence on so many hearts, which is equal to that of an exceedingly beautiful flower with its scent and visual magic.

A human being seldom wants to do without the pleasures that blossoms and flowers in every species offer him so also the blessing, which emanates from such human children, will not be willingly missed just like many people who are depressed by the monotony of their life, who would like to make this life blossom and this is what such a being brings about by trying to intervene to help everywhere and to be, like flowers, active in the true sense of the word. Love your fellow human beings ... and give them joy. The greatest joy, however, is when flowers of love are planted and nurtured, singing honor and praise in ever more beautiful flowers of their Creator

So the heart of every human being should be truly adorned with flowers this heart should be a garden of God, where all virtues are cultivated and carefully guarded like flowers and blossoms, in order to then shine and delight both the eternal Creator and His creatures the children of the earth, who think they are already on earth in such an environment in paradise that pleases their eyes and heart, and who will always strive to cultivate such a well-designed garden carefully, so that it also pleases the Lord, who in His love has created everything beautiful, so that the human soul recognizes in it the great kindness of the Father and His everlasting loving care for everything that arises in the universe

(So all flowers bloom only for your joy on earth and every flower shall become for you a symbol of that that you complete yourselves more and more in color, form and fragrance that you - what every flower does - always turn to the light Those who never enjoy the scent of flowers are never chosen to cultivate such glory, born of God's love).

Amen

Spiritual vision
Distribution of the Word of God in its purest form

The Spirit of God will fill you so that you can only want what is My will Thus the Lord speaks to you and will draw your heart more and more to Himself Everything that is subject to Him will have to fulfill the law, according to which every creature must, for the duration of its earthly existence, escape the world's bustle and turn to the eternal goal. If you can do this with an ever-lighter heart, that you give yourself completely only to the Lord and Savior, then you will learn to understand the Divine teachings more and more

Using all your willpower, you will also be able to gain insight into areas that require spiritual vision And this spiritual insight is the success of a heart that loves the Lord dearly and seeks truth You will be informed shortly But still you have to struggle continuously for the maturity of your soul, since the Spirit of God is to fill it and you draw from such union with the Divine Spirit a strength, which is necessary for you for further perfection.

Which work is still assigned to you, you can't imagine today, but the teachings of God must again be propagated from mouth to mouth for decades, in order to then again take possession of the innermost heart of mankind This task is the basis of your spiritual work the spreading of the Word of God in it's purest form The words of love should speak and reawaken love everywhere, because where the Lord Himself dwells through His Word, there it must come alive and force it's way into the hearts of mankind by it's own power

Humans want the bread of heaven at any time, but if it is offered to them as before, they easily refuse to accept it but what is offered to them in living representation ... what is offered to them so quite tastily and acceptably, they take up gladly and keep it in their hearts, if it once found acceptance Must not therefore the bringer of the Word of God also be led by the Lord Himself so that he is only the executive power of a higher will?

Can the Word of God be rejected when it is revealed to the human child with such visible evidence of supernatural intervention? Must not the worst doubter become perplexed and confess to himself that he want to deny a power that cannot now be denied? Has the love of the Lord ever expressed itself so visibly that it conveys to mankind what is so exceedingly beneficial to them? That the love of the Lord makes use of a willing human child to reveal this His work And the Lord is constantly active and instructs all His servants who are devoted to Him to announce His word because through this word all are to recover who until then walked through life on earth sick in spirit and did not yet recognize the purpose of their existence on earth.

Without this grace of God the darkness of the spirit would be much worse, but so the Lord seeks to bring brightness to the earth, and so many who are of good will already walk in the grace of knowledge. The will is free Infinitely rich is person who turns to God the Lord, sacrifices his will to the Divine will and now feels the outpouring of the Divine will constantly in his own heart. Happiness will certainly be granted to him on earth because he works from the hour of knowledge on with the employment of all his strength for him whom his soul loves for the Divine Lord and Saviour, who is also close to this earthly child in endless love until the end of his days

Prediction

Laws

Earth Mission

Teaching of Christ

In a few moons the revelation will come true for you that a spirit will arise which wants to proclaim against the Spirit of God, and when he will set the words, just as it says in the Bible, then you will recognize by it that all old things will be rejected and something new will arise in the same spirit, i.e. under the same words, but this is not from God, but is given to the people by the adversary to destroy them. In this time some earthly children will ask themselves in tortures of conscience, how they have to place themselves to everything Then the serious admonition will go out to you all: Do not detach yourselves from faith in the Lord Jesus Christ He alone will show you the right way

If you accept His teachings and are ready to confess His name aloud, not a hair of your head can possibly be bent by other powers, because the Lord protects those who are His The true power and strength is only given to you through true faith And search for this there, where all salvation comes from above over the universe You will not find salvation of the soul in earthly laws. He who strives for the earth alone neglects to accomplish the most important task. Only following the teaching of Christ is the task that has been set for you for your lifetime.

When you now turn your attention more to worldly laws, when you seek to do justice to these in the first place, then soon the time of grace, which was granted to you for the maturity of the soul, passes by in useless work. You will indeed comply with your earthly duty, but to what benefit Where should the blessing rest there, since the heavenly Father alone can reward you but the earthly power can fulfill nothing of what it always promises you, if the blessing is not granted to you from above And how can the heavenly Father take care of a matter that is not at all in His will

How can something be good for mankind if it is directed against the commandments given by God if a teaching is rejected which is to be preserved in its purity through millennia through generations Jesus Christ came into the world to redeem mankind, the work of redemption continues and lasts until all eternity but mankind wants to invalidate what has been until then, it wants to turn away from this doctrine and wants to form a new doctrine on worldly views, which is not what was given to mankind by Christ anymore

The more methodically such a teaching is built up, the wiser it is submitted to people, the less foundation it will have, because the Lord does not want it, that such powers concern themselves with the improvement of a doctrine which is far nobler than a work of God and that it is replaced by something worldly, which better meets the requirements of the people. Then the new teaching, which is man's work, will completely deviate from the true word and its career will be equal to worldly measures it will arise it will be changed and supposedly improved, and it will finally collapse in itself

For this is the fate of every teaching that is not from God, and therefore can never again be under Divine blessing. For only the pure teaching of Christ can be preserved through thousands of years, and even if there is talk of alleged errors, these are only due to wrong understanding and wrong interpretation, but it will always remain the same and also cannot be eliminated by such reorganization. Because people forget one thing that a work of God cannot be arbitrarily dismissed, but rather prevails in all times and through every struggle unaltered and remains eternally unchanged because God's works cannot be improved

When people would strive for this, they are biased in great error, because the belief that they can act against God's commandments is already a completely misguided thought, which only the adversary alone can give to mankind, but will never be executable. God's Word the teachings of Christ, remains inviolable through all eternity, and people will never ever be able to intervene destructively without harming their soul. Watch therefore for the signs from above, which are unmistakable and give you news of the will of the Lord Follow them, that ye may be saved from unbelief, but turn yourself ever more intimately to the teaching of Christ

Amen

Daniel

Wrestling of the spirit-beings from the sphere of light

Those who feel called to reform an existing world order will be judged before their end ... They will fulfill the prophecy of Daniel in the lions' den, who warns the world against interfering with Jehovah's will ... According to this, a lowly creature will defy the Lord and will want to rise above the Lord, and that will destroy him temporally and forever. Because as in foreseeable time everything will change as everything will pass away, which testified of former greatness, then also in the spiritual world soon a reversal will make itself valid, which will also noticeably affect the earthly children because the spirit-beings seek with all power to take possession of the thoughts of the earthly children

They make the utmost effort to gain entrance with them to make use of the short time, when they are allowed to work for the souls of men, in every conceivable way. A great harvest is to come, which the Lord wants to have, and although the world still holds innumerable souls captive with its charms, the desire for spiritual goods will still become more and more active in them because under the influence of the good spirit-beings, a visible ennoblement of the human children is achieved.

For forces are involved, which have taken their way from the sphere of light to the people, and which are infinitely able to make souls compliant, and which never slacken in the struggle to win souls for Christ. In this way, however, resistance will also be given to the hostile powers those who have only the slightest will in themselves to enter the right path will be wrested from them And to direct the will in man to divinity, innumerable beings strive in tireless spiritual work and their reward will not be small, because every soul is of incomparable value to the heavenly Father, since it is a part of the eternal Deity and that is why the struggle for these souls is so tireless.

If the adversary now prepares a plan to corrupt people in droves, and if, in order to carry out this plan, a planned reshaping of Divine laws is striven for, then anybody who strives for this, inevitably falls prey to the judgment of God Because his action is despicable, for it is not only the ruin of his own soul, but also because he strives to lead thousands and thousands of people astray and completely excludes action according to the will of God

Because everything is subject to the eternal Creator, and so He will also know how to prosecute at the right time all those who are subject to the hostile power and presume to influence the spirit of man completely erroneously, so that God in His mercy must use extraordinary means on mankind that He must first give them through proofs of a rare kind a clear picture of the actual purpose of being human But the love of the Lord never ends, and it always finds souls that are turned to the Lord or have not yet found the right understanding in their hearts, but are willing to submit to a higher being The Lord lovingly cares for these souls until they have recognized Him He does not let them suffer harm, because His love and goodness lasts forever

The conscience

Conscience is the true guide to eternal life And the one who listens to it, as his inner voice admonishes and teaches him, will not need to fear going astray. And if one of the children goes astray, then it truly did not pay attention to what the Father demanded through the voice of the heart, and so it can only be explained when the call of conscience becomes weaker and weaker and finally every warning is stifled in man. Then man has to blame himself if it becomes so difficult for him to obey the commandments of God For his indifference to the inner voice threw him from the right path

The bodily ear of humans would rather receive everything else It does not want to hear any admonitions or warnings that came to it from within, from the heart. And so slowly this voice became quieter, to finally say nothing at all, because the call of the world was much rather obeyed and drowned out this inner voice. If a warning passes the heart and ear of man unheard, then also no excuse will be found, and likewise such a man who does not fulfill what the inner voice prescribes to him, will have to walk in darkness, .

God the Lord created man so that he can recognize when he wants to He has given him for this purpose a constant control of himself in the voice of his conscience If he listens to this, it will very soon be clear to him what the purpose and goal of his life is. And if he now conscientiously obeys this voice, then knowledge will also come to him it will always guide him, and man does not need any other signpost as long as he does not fight against this inner voice, but observes it as a constant reminder from the Lord

And how sensibly the Lord has created you that you are to form yourselves and for this purpose He gave you a constant companion and therefore none of you remained without the proof of His favour i.e. that each of you earthly children really understands this inner voice well and therefore cannot have an excuse to have remained without warning and admonition. You all can think, and don't you all have to feel in your hearts what is right and what is wrong? And will you not try, if possible, to always do what is right?

If you are constantly and repeatedly admonished, then you must be grateful to the heavenly Father, who makes His will known to every child through the voice of conscience, although it is correctly recognized by even a few. He speaks with every single one of you, and so the work of the Deity on you people starts through the voice of conscience, free will is not hindered because you can accept it or also not hear but then you will stifle the fine impulses, which connect you with everything spiritual, and your struggle on earth will be far more difficult.

The one who bends before the Savior with love will hear the loving words of the Savior in the voice of his conscience and will joyfully fulfill all His desires, and so the voice of conscience will be for him the true pillar of all spiritual thinking and experience because the one who obeys this voice will become more and more enlightened in spirit and heart, and he will never lack the strength to open the gate to eternal bliss, because he will then act exactly as the inner voice dictates, which is the voice of God

My guide and protector

Spirit of Control

Student - Teacher

Hear the words of your Lord Your life henceforth is established. A pure spiritual exchange will take place whenever your heart desires it You will hear Divine teachings, and the grace of the Lord will give you the full knowledge of what you receive. Because there are not few, which are ready to give to you who all would like to take part in your spiritual work they recognize ever more the task, which is given to you, and in eager striving they are anxious to obtain spiritual property through an intimate connection with you.

In the multitude of teachers and commissioned messengers of God surrounding you, there is one who corresponds to your whole nature and is very devoted to you. He turns to you again and again with full participation, paying attention to your work and encourage you in your striving. For his greatest task in the hereafter is for those who willingly consecrate their services to the Lord; he is constantly striving to develop them. Whatever spiritual teachings you now receive is conscientiously controlled by him and if he looks after you and your work, you are in good hands.

The various beings that surround you are equally concerned about you, since each one wants to work through you in order to exercise their love-activities on the ignorant souls entrusted to them through an earthly child that is compliant with them. The spiritual constitution of people is in urgent need of the support of dear spirit-beings, but these find so little hearing with men and still much less direct help through willing earthly children. If now a soul has so connected itself with the hereafter that it has become receptive and willing for spiritual teachings, then so many spiritual beings want to take possession of such a readiness All want to make themselves known and are therefore always near you

But your guiding spirit your leader and protector, must consider you according to your powers your will is probably good, but your powers are not yet strong enough The love of the Lord sends you His Word unceasingly, and so you will be trained and become receptive to Divine teachings and wisdom, which will soon come to you easily and effortlessly, if only you devote yourself to your work always with love and trustingly surrender yourself to your spiritual protector

He has taken it upon himself to submit to you all the teachings of the Savior, and his concern is for you without interruption By virtue of his exceedingly great love for the Savior, his loving activity is also an extraordinarily moving one and encompasses all the souls who submit their will entirely to the Lord There he is able to have an effect on the hearts and to stir up love for the Divine Saviour in them until protector and protégé complement each other in this love in such a way that the mediation of everything spiritual only becomes easier and easier and the being on earth learns quite easily to understand the otherworldly transmission and dedicates itself in fervent love for the Saviour more and more devotedly to its assignment.

Because the degree of love is always decisive of how far the Divine teachings are received in the human heart And if the transmitter of all spiritual exercises his work of love on a child willing to love, this child will become ever increasingly more passionate in love with the Savior and will then always receive all Divine wisdom, all teachings and instructions in the heart in such burning love And so such an earthly child must now form and develop

The student must become similar to his teacher. The only task that a teacher sets for his pupil is to be solved to the satisfaction of the divine teacher, and therefore the spiritual power that has been assigned to you as a leader and protector, and that performs its office with great joy, tirelessly tends to and teaches you The being that always surrounds you, that guides your thoughts, is well-disposed towards you It is the Lord's dearest servant John

Precondition for the degree of maturity

Spirit of research

Dream?

The Father's care

In this consecrated hour the Spirit of God embodies in your bodily shell and reveals to you everything that you are destined to receive today. You do indeed believe, and it is wise of you to persevere in the will of the Lord But for the experience of everything spiritual, for the complete penetration into the creation of God, a degree of maturity is a condition, which you must strive for daily, in order to sooner gain this great grace, to be initiated by the Lord into the miracles of the heavenly kingdom.

So today you will be given an explanation of how you can acquire this degree of maturity and what everything is necessary to meet the demands of the Lord and Savior, who distributes His grace immeasurably to those who long for Him You shall not lack His power, therefore follow our instruction and turn trustfully daily to Him for His support that He may strengthen your faith, your power of love, your humility, and last but not least, beg Him for His mercy - because without this, your struggle is too hard.

To the researching spirit the reaching of this degree of maturity is only possible to a limited degree it does not strive in the heart, but begins its work intellectually and can only have success, if it has besides this a pious heart, which looks in the universe for the Father (in his heart). But to leave aside all intellectual desire to recognize and only deep in the heart struggle for the possession of true Fatherly love and from this arises deeply humble faith and make an effort to do everything out of intimate love what is pleasing to the heavenly Father that brings you into that state in which the light ignites you and will shine so brightly that you feel and recognize the Spirit of God in your hearts.

So the Lord by far prefers that you place yourselves under His protection, so that He can now work in you according to His will, rather than that you try to acquire a rigid knowledge through research in remote areas, but with which you neither delight the Divine Father nor bring yourselves into a spiritually mature state You will achieve much more and that much more effortlessly if you are aware of your helplessness For the Father in heaven considers all who feel poor in spirit To these He brings His gifts unmeasured and the abundance of these gifts ensures a spiritual knowledge to a high degree.

For your striving on earth, the Lord will grant you a grace as well, but it should be in your will to accept it He will make your gaze wander in a dream to that land, and you will be assigned a task there, which you may or may not be able to fulfill A heartfelt prayer for enlightenment sent to the Lord that you may find strength to choose and desire what is right Your heart may well hesitate in your concern for the welfare of your fellow men, but do not think of earthly worries Let concern for eternity always come first In such hat, in the protection of the Father, you leave yours behind

But if you find in the work of your soul such a blessing-filled, deeply satisfying activity that all other earthly worries are tiny compared with the spiritual riches that you reap, you go the right way. Let it be enough for you: The Father cares for all those who commend His true children to Him How then should He leave you in distress if you strive to serve Him and only Him. With all His love-fervor He will embrace you and be balm to your heart in earthly woe, but you must love Him in the first place and willingly give up everything else for Him, because you receive it tenfold and a hundredfold again from His hand, what you have sacrificed for His sake

So pray and wrestle without ceasing, that you may receive the highest blessing and be allowed to see the infinitely beautiful bliss prepared for you by your heavenly Father He alone can give you the most glorious thing, if you only love Him alone and are able to willingly separate from what is dearest to you on earth, and then the Spirit of God fills you and guides you, and then you reach the highest degree of maturity, which enables you to look into the glory of God

Refuting doubts about writing

Faith

Signs

Behold, My child, the regular receiving alone already gives you the strength which you need, and so every receiving is followed by the strengthening which you ask for. Because to a willing child I grant the grace all the time and stand by him, as his heart's desire is only towards Me It has an extraordinary power to turn to Me, and you will feel this power in that spiritual union where your heart separates from the world to offer itself to Me

A regulated activity like your earthly one at least allows the assumption that your spirit can form easily and thus becomes receptive i.e. understood in human sense, that a kind of knowledge of the mind - or as humans believe it, a kind of imagination has pushed itself into your spiritual life But these doubters or deniers only wanted to consider once how difficult it is to create a manifestation of this type in a natural way and how much thinking and brooding would be necessary ... and how then the contents could not withstand a serious examination when torn apart ...

They want to figure out how these your letters can be denied or not recognized probably due to a lack of knowledge or also from the feeling of "knowing everything better" yet however nobody will ever be able to exhaustively judge it, because it is not simply just about the contents. He may well deny it, but then always only because he does not want to accept it ... But he cannot seriously refute what you have written down, and he can never completely justify his refusal. A small hint would be enough to silence all these doubters, but how should the development of the soul-support for these people proceed

How often already a proof has been given to the people through regular communication of the beings of the hereafter with the inhabitants of the earth. For those who believe, knowledge shines, because only on this basis was it possible to maintain such a connection Faith deep faith, is a prerequisite, and only through this can progress in the spiritual be achieved For this world, it must be enough for you to share in the blessings of such a union only at certain intervals

It will be offered to you more frequently from now on, and you will soon become aware that these extraordinary communications are only of advantage for you. You let yourselves be ingrafted into a world view, which has nevertheless little and no value for eternity you do not see the course of the time Not how long it lasts, and you remain hanging on an unsolved question You will ask yourselves: Why such a wrestling during just this short a time on earth And you can give yourself the answer to this question You do not remotely consider yourselves to be what I want to see in you as My children how do you want to become a part of what the Father has prepared for you?

And therefore a non-acceptance of the Divine Father's words or a conscious refusal is nevertheless only a lack of spiritual ability How many recognize the Divine Creator from that which surrounds them, how many have realized what their relationship is to the heavenly Father and how many still do not have the right trust in Me these grieve Me They believe they can walk without Me and spend so many years uselessly on earth Oh what folly to ignore the hand of the Creator and yet to want to fathom what is well hidden behind all creation!

And if you do not take this path of faith, how will you be able to grasp the last explanations These are only to be accepted in your hearts on the basis of faith, otherwise all efforts will be in vain. Like empty sounds, the words fade away in the ears of those who cannot believe. How far away are they still from true knowledge and how far away from true love For once this love for the Savior seizes their heart, they suddenly understand, and what fruits faith then produces, you will once recognize by those whom I love

Remain loyal to Me be true apostles of My teaching, give to Me whenever you are asked to, and so grace will constantly flow to you, just as I bless everyone who not only loves Me, but also includes in this love all his fellow brothers and sisters on earth that he gives where he has to give, because his heart presses him but not out of self-interest because this does not entail a blessing. And so everyone will feel in his heart what his office is and he will also feel how he should walk on earth to complete this life pleasing to God

Amen

Research - error

Love - truth

Master builder

To those who love Me, I do good without turning away and therefore take care that you do not live in want one single day, and remain in My love. Mankind looks for a way by which it believes leads to the recognition of the Godhead, and therefore easily goes astray, because this way should be found in the heart, but not through research and fathoming of the intellect And so very few human beings find the right result it always undermines truths, but the spirit of the researcher will never be completely illuminated. I give those who remain in My love a teacher Myself, and then a full knowledge of the Divine truths is certain for them. So I lay the foundation stone for you at all times and wait only for your full will, that you would build on it

Does the Spirit of God move in you that you long to receive, that you accept what you have received into your heart that every day lets it flow to you anew, which lifts your spirit then the building will progress well and this can no longer be torn down by earthly power. For every building has its master builder, and where this master builder is your Savior Himself, the work must also succeed and remain in existence for eternity. Nothing of what I Myself have given My blessing for and what has arisen in My will, can be destroyed

Let yourself be reminded of the words of the Lord: He who builds and works for eternity will not need to fear to see his work go to shame The most glorious result that can be achieved on earth an incomparable valuable is to be a co-worker of the Lord and to help countless souls to gain the Kingdom of God. Blessing on earth and heavenly bliss one day will be the reward for such work Your present work is in stead of activity useless for eternity, and for endless times the children of the world will hear the words which the Lord Himself speaks to them through a child devoted to Him.

This is an unspeakable grace for the earth, that the Lord cares for His little sheep and wants to give them news of His nearness and His readiness to receive these little sheep into His flock. Hear His call and follow it Respect His servants, and do not let all the admonitions the Lord conveyed to you through them go unheard, then you too will learn to recognize the nature of the Godhead and take the right path

World Life

Faith

Love of God

It comes, as the Lord determines As long as man remains in inactivity, his soul will not be able to form. It cannot get rid of its fetters and remains what it was at the beginning of its embodiment on earth a being that has not felt the benefit of the light on itself In itself world life has little value and yet is regarded as the main thing in life, and a struggle for this worldly life keeps the soul more and more from going through the spiritual school.

And so the soul can also never speak of progress, if it does not express itself in such a way that it becomes ever lighter in the soul Then the splendor of the world fades before this light, and man has overcome as soon as he has rescued himself from the fetters of the world and has made his way through to an unshakeable faith and can now accomplish a reshaping of the whole being. Again and again the evil forces will try to bring about an apostasy but man must be strong in faith and ask the Lord for help, then the soul will be redeemed through the Saviour's great love, which is expressed everywhere where the earthly child does not turn away from the Word of God and where it confesses itself to the Father in all simplicity of heart as a child

The love of the Lord is immeasurable it reaches into infinite expanses it grasps innumerable beings and delights those who are deeply devoted to the Savior ... Thus the love of the Divine Father recruits incessantly among It's earthly children no human understands this for as long as he still stays on earth, as the grace of God is acquired directly through love and this then again brings the people on the right track how out of this love also a submission to God's will develops and how salutary the words of the Lord are, which the willing child may then receive All this must give man a strength that lets him go further and further and safely on the way to his eternal home

Reminder to help the spiritually ill

Have mercy on every being that you meet walking in darkness, because it is enough to bless you, if you help them to find the way to the light Your lunatics are already suffering here and far more still in the hereafter. You will have no easy work on them, but the Father in heaven rejoices over every soul that you bring to Him. In these surroundings there are earthly children who are likewise in need of light. Walking on earth has been easy for them, they therefore did not grasp so firm a faith to find and enter the true way out of this faith.

It gave them the world at all times, and this was of little benefit to their spirit. The Lord instructs all who want to serve Him, to be active toward such people. Your creative power is strong and will be under God's blessing both spiritually and physically Never be content to accomplish only what is necessary, but strive unceasingly to reach the height, for only constant striving brings you upwards, and a slackening or a tiredness is always a step backwards.

Whatever is demanded of you, you will always be able to master But in the spiritual you yourself have to struggle to receive an always brighter light and also to be able to let this radiate onto your fellow men. Always pray for the other where you can This itself blesses, and soon you will be able to rule where you have served. You will understand it well when you consider the iron willpower that is your own and that you can use to achieve what you have set out to do. You had to endure a short period of servitude, but the duration of this is in your hands

The more you wrestle yourself, the easier the annoying shackles fall, and you are free. But therefore have mercy on those who do not recognize in which freedom-chains their soul still languishes. See, these souls will once thank you fervently, but the struggle for these souls is not easy it takes patience and love to point out their condition but God provides every willing child with strength, which use will be put on your heart. Therefore be creative and active. That you walk the right path, is the heavenly Father's concern, if you intimately entrust yourself to Him

Feeling for natural beauty and it's purpose for people

You are ruled at times by beings that you attract through thoughts that are concerned with the creation of the universe. These are the beings who are granted the power over everything that surrounds you in nature on earth. They also put some of the sensation into your heart, so that it swells and gets excited as soon as nature around you is of special attraction You all know the feeling of happiness that takes possession of you, and this at every season of the year, but especially when everything arises anew and becomes green and blossoms.

The being to whom all these are subordinate, connects a good spirit with the earthly children They are always excited to give mankind news of the eternal Godhead, and so every leaf, every flower, every blade of grass everything that delights the human heart in nature, is only a visible sign that points to the Divine Creator, to whom all creating spirit beings are subject. Where these miracles already emanate such a delightful power on your emotional life, there every thinking person must come closer to eternity, if he does not consider all these miracles as something commonplace and takes little notice of them, as the state of affairs has unfortunately taken the upper hand with people

These in turn will find it difficult to get the eternal truth explained through the miracles of creation The obvious signs with which the Creator works all this will make no impression, and the so hardened human hearts are evil because they lack the first basic concepts which make a deep understanding possible. So the heavenly Father puts the sense of beauty into the heart of all of you The more you cultivate it by learning to look at everything around you spiritually, the easier you will be able to understand that the feeling for beauty in you also triggers the feeling of happiness

But vice versa it will hardly be possible to offer you something if you cannot gain anything extraordinary from such apparent work of the spirit-beings When you walk blindly through this beautiful life on earth and are not able to recognize the thousand wonders, which surround you daily. The spirit-beings, which let everything arise around you, are well-disposed towards you their goal is like that of all higher developed beings, likewise the struggle for the souls of darkness, and they apply all means available to them, so that man is stimulated to think and through the play in nature a question forces itself upon him: What is the connection between man and all that surrounds him?

Once this question has been raised, then a slow recognition begins, which is vividly supported by these spirit-beings, because the concern for these people is also close to their hearts, and they are therefore constantly endeavoring to have an enlightening and pleasing effect on humans, in order to awaken the feeling of a union with God in these, from which then the light of recognition is ignited and now the earthly existence in such an enlightened state is exploited for eternity It is the will of the Lord that the emergence of nature

each year stimulates you to think, that you reflect on why and for what purpose, according to the earth, splendor is brought before man's eyes and what is man's task in the midst of this environment

Evil thoughts

Knowing God consciously

Degree of maturity

"Get away from me, you evil thoughts!" Apply this sigh of impulse when you are afflicted by such, when your inner peace begins to waver, and you will be freed at once and will be able to turn to the Lord with confidence. Thus it eludes your knowledge that a respective persistence in such thoughts delivers you up to hostile power, and that you must therefore make every serious effort to escape from it. The means the enemy uses to win you are so many and varied that you truly cannot pray and wrestle enough to resist the attacks. A little word or even the smallest act of love frees you from such violence, because love is the strongest weapon against all evil.

So now turn your full attention to us and listen: The being that God created remains eternally imperishable. If now the Spirit of God wants to fully dominate this being If this being is to be nothing but a pure form of light, then the being must stand in such a degree of perfection that now the Divinity can take possession of it. But each being is subject to the same law of freedom, i.e. it has perfect freedom over itself, and is now able to use this freedom rightly and to turn to the height out of completely free will, it will find the highest possible support from above and will thus be able to form itself into a God-like being

The Godhead, however, who dominates everything in the wide world space, again lets those impulses have an infinite variety of effects on man, which awaken in him the consciousness of and the urge for the Divine Because an unconscious working begins already before the being embodies itself on earth. The soul initially forms itself to a certain extent only so far that it can then accept a physical covering, and in this only now the conscious fight with the hostile forces begins But the more the consciousness of a divine power now fills man, the easier he will find the fight against his corrupters.

And in order to now reach an extraordinary degree of maturity on earth, man is to make use of Divine grace, which is offered to him and flows to him continuously, if man makes an effort to do so. Everything must first be wanted by the human soul, only then it can work in it Man is completely free to accept what the highest Being itself offers him to support the struggle on earth or to reject it and not to make use of it.

What a small blessed effect the latter now has on you human children, you will understand, because not one is able to reach such a degree of maturity a stage of perfection - that the eternal Godhead could recover Himself in this being So you are commanded again and again to wrestle and implore the Divine grace, which is granted to you unmeasured and is unspeakably beneficial to you, if you want to educate yourselves in such a way, in order to achieve eternal bliss to be united with the Divine Father-Spirit

Amen

Rock-solid faith need to be close to the Savior

My dear child, why do you fear and tremble see, so many graces are granted to you that your heart should only rejoice forever, and yet you do not yet believe it is dark in your mind because you give room to doubting thoughts. Put all your worries into the heart of your Lord and Savior, and you will be comforted and calmed through life. Just one word and your heart will beat with joy because you do not yet recognize the power of Divine love You do not know what fire of love can consume you if you feel the closeness of the Lord only once Acquire this immense happiness by making yourself worthy of it

And to this belongs in the first place a rock-solid faith, because without this you cannot connect deeply inwardly with your Savior only what you experience from deepest faith, makes you worthy of the highest luck. The love of the Divine Savior wants to draw every human child to Himself; it also wants to let it gain insight when his heart beats so hot for the Savior that in this love, the Lord wants to give the earthly child fulfillment of all longing. But where is such a deeply believing human child who loves the Lord and Saviour above all else

They take offence at the slightest stone, and again and again they have to struggle for the grace to be allowed to dwell in the presence of the Lord And so you encourage yourselves too little where you give in to such inner doubts and thereby make yourselves unworthy of the love of the Father. He who has prepared a kingdom for you for eternity is always near you, but only when you voluntarily give your heart to Him, ... when you long in deep love for Him to enter your heart, only then can He take up residence and bless your heart

Activity of loveSorrowThe Savior is present in love

"Those who are Mine will see the glory of God, and they will receive all the blessings of heaven Therefore respect one another and love one another, because through love you become that which makes you My children". You have many opportunities in every situation of life in which you can exercise this love but no-one will be spared to collect merit in the activity of love, therefore the Lord lets those who ask come to you so often on your life's journey and tests you how you behave towards them

And always in the voice of conscience a hint is given to you from above. If you now listen to this voice and thus make use of the opportunity, soon your soul matures in this love, and thus you again and again recognize love as the only true way to the heart of the Father. Remember His walk on earth where the Lord sought to win all people through love, you also have to make an effort to always only follow the course of your heart, which will always admonish you to be active in love. The guideline for this life is always the walk of Christ on earth

If you can follow this and His words, you will easily reach what the goal of infinite beings in the universe should be. You enter through love into the grace of the Lord because everywhere where love prevails, there the Lord Himself is among you, and in such nearness of the Divine Savior, His grace flows in you, and then this struggle on earth will become easier and easier when Divine grace supports you. This should all those who are pressed down to the earth with burden and sorrow well consider

If they turn more and more to the work of love, the Lord gives them so much strength that they soon recognize this in themselves and all the worries of everyday life no longer seem oppressive to them They are far more likely to have these taken from their shoulders and life from now on is easily bearable. The eternal Creator wants to reveal Himself in all these worries of the earth Whoever walks through life without thoughts of the Godhead, should be made aware of a power that dominates him From which he cannot escape by his own strength.

If true love now underlies the actions of man, then he will also soon be able in this love to recognize God the Lord in everything, even in what presses and burdens him and once he has recognized this, then the Lord Himself pushes Himself into his heart since He always stays where true love is the driving force of all actions. When you now cannot recognize the Divine Creator and still act continuously in love, then your soul has already long since recognized, and it would be only a short time until your spiritual eyes are completely opened.

Therefore cherish love as the first commandment, take care of each other don't let any of your fellow men lack where you can give, and last but not least be concerned about their spiritual well-being; if you yourselves came to recognition, then help them also to come to this knowledge, and all this you can do only through love, which is an outflow of God, the heavenly Father from eternity to eternity

Amen

Decision

Love on earth or sacrifice

The ones who are Mine should be comforted at any time Thus I made you known and lead you safely through all trials of life. Those who respect My word go into My protection, and never does the Father allow that suffering be inflicted to their soul. And that's why I only remain in love towards Me, everything follows by itself, because ultimately, only one power dominates the universe ... My will ... and where I love, I want that everyone who longs for Me, will be protected. What other value would life have except that I am well pleased with My children? Everything exists and arises nevertheless only for these, and if the actual purpose of life was recognized only once in so far that the soul turns lovingly to Me, then I will not permit that this soul ever again goes astray

The will of the child towards the Father is decisive then all strength flows through you to remain faithful to this will Also I do not admit then any longer that this soul turned to Me, is seized by dark forces What is still allotted to it on cloudy days, serves only for the stronger development of love and to awaken ardent longing for the Divine Father, and [you should], in this knowledge, always patiently accept what is henceforth destined for you. You are still unconscious of love, otherwise you would be able to satisfy the desires of the heart Every work of the soul takes time It is up to you to rise in the most burning love, to sacrifice your life on earth or to sacrifice your earthly life to the Lord and to enjoy unspeakable happiness in the hereafter

In any case, your love will not be stopped, but you would become incompetent for earthly life with the all-consuming love in your heart This is the task that is left to you to accomplish I look upon you, My child, with infinite love and yet I must leave this decision to you What earthly happiness can be granted to the human child, is always an obstacle on the way to Me I Myself am the Love and the Life; whoever remains in Me and I in him, has eternal life the love for Me must dominate you if you want to enter My kingdom, and you must give away everything else willingly

The world is hard in it's privations and hardships To attain eternal life without resistance would not be meritorious, and many even stumble in this resistance. You, My child, My angels shall guard you and always direct your spirit towards Me But they must not influence your will, and therefore it is entirely up to you alone to obtain the heavenly crown Whoever lives in My love will also fulfill My will, so you should first seek to strengthen yourself in this love

A pure heart in fullest faith and a patient, always gentle nature, secure you My love, and this again inevitably pulls you upwards. Thus your walk on earth is blessed, if everything is based on love for Me To see the glory of God is the highest and for you the most incomprehensible happiness that awaits you in the hereafter. To share in this happiness, you must use every minute of your life and always obey My commandment of love, because true love alone paves the way to eternal bliss

BD 0402 6.5.1938

Dangers of the world

False luster

You must strengthen yourselves with the power that flows to you from the Word of God, and so the Lord tells you that no-one makes an effort to lead a life pleasing to God who continues to turn his thoughts to the worldly, because the soul can never find it's Creator where far more interest is devoted to the temporal life. In such spiritual poverty the spark of the knowledge of God is certainly not hidden. Man seeks to win from the earth everything conceivably possible, but no thought, however quietly longing, turns to the eternal Creator Anyone knowing the dangers of the current earth certainly foresee no good end

And so one day after the other passes by and brings no ascent to the human soul a long life passed by without any consideration towards the Divine - and is poor in Divine grace and edification, because where the heart does not ask for it, there it must be in need and thus loses infinite help and support. But the world with it's false luster blinds such a poor heart, and the more such a man longs for it, the more abundantly it will be fulfilled, because the world pays it's tribute to him who only longs for it.

So most do not recognize their purpose in life because the veil of ignorance is permanently before their spiritual eyes, and what now such a soul creates or does not create for eternity, is unspeakably sad. Thoughts of God indeed forces itself upon them at times, but then it is always only a mechanical merging in religion they are taught Their inside, however, knows little of it, and they do not try to establish a deep internal connection with the heavenly Father at all, because any spiritual compulsion is unpleasant for them, and they are still so far removed from a full recognition

Thus such a soul anxiously avoids the opportunity that could give it enlightenment, and prefers to cling desperately to the dead teaching rather than to give life to this teaching with a warm heart and bring itself into a state in which the spirit dominates the body and the whole fullness of Divine grace would make the way upwards so easy for them. Remember these poor souls fervently in prayer, so that the light of knowledge may be kindled for them still on earth and they may not have to struggle unspeakably in the world beyond

Divine Power

Energy

Correct desire

Follow our explanations: The earth with it's surrounding atmosphere enlivens innumerable beings for the sole purpose that these can take care of their development and concentrate more and more on absorbing a force within themselves, which one can then regard as a culmination point and from which one can continuously strive for and achieve a transformability. Work this out for yourself:

It is given to man to acquire an extraordinary power; he only needs to want to and can then use it to put his will into action. If he will now unite he can decide inwardly consciously, to which goal this wanting is to be applied now, then he receives at the same time the ability to prepare himself for eternity, because he then brings his will in agreement with the task assigned to him and he then can no longer do anything else but to fulfill this task.

For this earth-life all people has been given the same task: the ennobling of their soul, to give it freedom out of it's previous power and then to prepare it to receive the Divine Spirit. The sooner this transformation takes place, the more effectively the power of the all-generating Divinity will influence this person So it is given to everyone to become a part of this power through a focused will. The evil influence of the earth will be weakened in the same measure The soul so to speak removes itself from the sphere of the world which holds it in chains it unites itself in higher spheres with beneficial and supporting spirit-beings and thus escapes the power of darkness

The right will has therefore brought about a transformation that fits completely into the order of God Every activity carried out at this stage is now aimed at the advancement of the soul, and the possibility therefore remains that the soul's further course of development takes place in such a way that it fully complies with it's destiny and fulfills it's task on earth it has taken on a covering which is able to contain the highest and holiest the Spirit of God

Amen

"Oh come all to Me"

Cast all your cares on the Lord and if the worries concern your spiritual well-being, you shall not remain in need for long. One thing above all is needed for you, that you do not consider worries too small or too great to entrust them to the Lord If you are always careful to trust in the heavenly Father, His love also always care for you because you would have to despair without His help, the Lord takes it from you immediately on your prayer because through this prayer you also increase your strength to bear what is imposed on you, and therefore it will be useful for you to turn to Divine love and mercy in every tribulation.

"Oh come to Me, all you who are weary and burdened I will refresh you" All consolation and all love lie in these words of the Savior, and not for a second should you tarry where the Lord's help is so dearly offered to you. The greatest concern of the Lord is that you would not need Him on your way of life, that you believe relying on your strength, to be able to do without His help then your spiritual progress will be very slowly because man is only able to do very little from within himself, but with the help of the Divine Father, infinitely much. So turn to Him in every trouble of soul and body; He will not let your prayer go unheard, and you will only win for now and all time.

Amen

Disadvantage of cultural development

Worldly wisdom

Forces of nature

Charities

Out of such connection grows the greatest blessing for you, and therefore always begin your daily work with intimate prayer. The Savior of all the worlds is now again passing through the earth valley. His mission is to teach the world the true faith. But little has changed during this time. It is an extremely difficult beginning to put the belief in an after-life into the hearts of people who deny everything supernatural in a truly sacrilegious way Today's cultural development has the large disadvantage that it produces innumerable worldly wisdoms and fights therefore from this perspective particularly against everything indicating a life outside of the earth.

And so the progress on earth is always a disadvantage for everything spiritual. The active striving and haste, which fills people day in and day out, leaves them little or no time for the development of the spirit for the work on their soul. They do not notice how fast their time is passing by, they follow their earthly activity unaffected that only now and then a thought turns to infinity And this is the most unhealthy foundation on which spiritual building can proceed. It is not only the excessively time-consuming earthly activity that hinders man, but rather the spiritual knowledge that such people believe to have and against which it is far more difficult to fight.

To open up a field of knowledge to a not so wise person is considerably easier but to want to convey spiritual knowledge to a person who is well versed in all knowledge, is far more hopeless The whole existence of this man depends in his opinion only on his earthly activity A thought of something higher, of an existence formed in any other form after his bodily death, is to him something that only requires a quiet smile of superior knowledge, and yet such a wise man on earth knows nothing His spiritual, soul-supporting activity shows gaps upon gaps

That is why the Lord has now taken care and has chosen His servants with the ability to confront them with extraordinary proofs of His power and will. It will be a desperate struggle for these souls, who often do not want to take the trouble to seriously examine an apparent proof of the Divine work But forces of nature will also bring them enlightenment at the same time, so that they try to turn their thought-activity away from the earthly and to penetrate into infinity

But what a struggle of the spirit-beings and the servants on earth has to engage in for these self-exalting earthly children The universe with all its splendor, all phenomena around and above, are not enough to awaken even one small glimmer of light in these and the charitable institutions striven for in the world also deprive them of the last chance to cultivate a love-field for themselves, where the Divine Source of grace would be opened up to them through an activity in love and where they could then give food to the spirit within themselves out of love

That is why an ever wider gap lies between the children on earth and the spirit-beings active around them because love is so little practiced and without love, the spirit remains in darkness and a development of the soul can only be achieved with difficulty. Because the assumption that an earthly child attains a perfect spiritual state through an apparently civilized life on earth, is wrong The soul must be redeemed from within, and this only love can bring about, and only where this is active, the still existing darkness of the spirit is to be banished, and also the light of recognition will still shine for these people, when they only make an effort to cultivate love Then also the grace of the Lord will meet them lovingly and let them safely find the way leading upwards into the heavenly kingdom

Father's words

Hear the voice speaking to you All the time, people are born who have the inner urge to submit to the Divinity in everything they do life is also only one step on the ladder leading to perfection. Therefore do not fear and tremble, you who want to reach the highest bliss of eternal life Your heart will guide you, you will hear the Divine voice calling out to you: "Follow Me and the suffering of the earth is overcome for those who remember only the Lord.

A moment full of joy is granted you, which exceeds the suffering of the earth a thousand times. If you abstained from the world, you now learn to know happiness in all its fullness, because the love of God knows no bounds, and you can still increase this heavenly happiness to immeasurable heights, if you have become one with Him in the love for the Lord and Savior Therefore is the wrestling during time on earth necessary until the last hour Hear therefore the exhortation which the Lord sends to those who are His: You will be considered by My love, but make yourselves also worthy of this love.

Those who keep My commandments and follow Me, remain eternally in My love They will not feel the heaviness of the earth oppressive, when they are completely absorbed in My will The last will be first, and so also everyone who willingly serves Me, will rule over innumerable beings in the universe Because My power passes over into those children who are devoted to Me in love. See the earth as a unique schoolhouse that I Myself run and where I try to teach My wisdoms to all pupils and to give them knowledge of the work of the Godhead And see these children, how they receive differently what is offered to them how they partly hang attentively on My lips, but partly also listen completely unwillingly and want to escape My teachings.

And so only a small part will use what My love offers them But this small fraction of My earthly children is so willing that My fullest love is there for them and the stream of My love-glowing heart overflows into their hearts and so for these there will sure still come times of trial, but they will know how to rise again and again in My favor, surrender and follow Me loyally And so I never leave a heart so anxious for inner maturity I bless it and make it fully available to Me until I one day take it into My Father's kingdom

Security of the truth

Importance of knowledge

Guiding spirit

This may be said for your reassurance that neither spirit-beings nor people have the gift of conveying to you erroneous views, if you seek the truth in your heart alone. You yourself refuse to accept an untruth in your mind so no power will be able to transmit such to you. That's why your struggle for the truth is so blessed, because with this will, you are already eliminating a misleading force Then danger will only threaten you, if your wrestling slackens and you surrender yourself in indifference to the effects of all the elements

And that is why your prayer is needed, which gives you protection at all times and makes you receptive to all that is good and noble The goodness of the Lord lets you be steadfastly instructed; your attention is to be directed mainly to attain spiritual maturity, because for your farther life, a knowledge is necessary that makes you capable of every contradiction when the teaching of the Lord is challenged. Whether in this or that world diligent work will always be required if the words of God are to find their way in and be vividly evaluated.

It is not about absorbing the details, but rather about the knowledge of a continuous life about incessant work on the soul about the everlasting activity of each being This knowledge will spur you on to the highest possible perfection in your earthly existence, because it offers the greatest possibility for it and your continued life then exists for you only in your own blissful love-activity, while otherwise still another agonizing struggle to the finite height in the hereafter is destined for you, which you are given ample opportunity to avoid in this life

So now your protecting and guiding spirit tells you about a constant worry of the beings surrounding you Their activity consists mostly of conveying to you the true realization that you have been made receptive to our teachings. They care for you as it were continuously and watch over your thoughts. It is of incomparable value to be entrusted to such faithful guardians The right knowledge which they own, will also soon pass over to you and will detach you more and more from the earth's resistance. Thus cared for, your life path will still be a struggle, but a successful one

Only few are assigned such a task because the power and the will of every individual are so different, that the Lord chooses them Himself. Whoever grants Him entrance into his heart, will also place himself in his protection and now experiences the proofs of His love and goodness in the richest measure. But beyond that, a driving force is given into man's heart, according to which he must strive ever higher, and this driving force awakens wherever man engages in love towards his fellow men. Spiritual knowledge is hence indispensable to show the fellow men the right way to attain eternal life

Effect on souls in the beyond

Eager listener

Blessed activity is completely united with our will, and we are always waiting for the hour that will allow us to connect with you. It would be so easy to convey to the spirit what our task is, but your body-shell is still a strong obstacle, and it is only your constant striving that makes it easier for us to communicate with you, because where the will is strong, our power is also strengthened But the pure words of God can only be communicated to you through a Divine Spirit

We are present at every recording and take part in all teachings, but it would be impossible for us to announce ourselves to you, since this your connection with the hereafter is a serious teaching activity and we are not allowed to claim your strength and time for ourselves. But we remain constantly connected to you we bring you all compassion and only faithfully keep everything far away from you, which could be hindering you and your striving. Well, countless figures from other regions are moving around you and are trying to make you turn away from your task But the protective wall around you is so strong that you need fear nothing.

But it is now a rare privilege for us that we may communicate with you. Your friend urges you not to let yourself be distracted from this extremely blessed activity under any circumstances she wants to devote herself, like you, to the work in the hereafter with a zeal that she may one day receive you in the same condition Thus it has become her task to contribute to the ennoblement of the beings by pointing to this your activity. Countless beings already place their salvation on your heart, they unite around you daily and hourly and are happy to be allowed to stay in this sphere and to receive admonitions and teachings without interruption, partly through your spiritual striving but also through the activity that made it much easier for them to find knowledge

Some still err ignorantly in your proximity, and these especially are in the caring love of your girlfriend. It is infinitely delightful for the ignorant to point out to such helping souls can also be appointed to them, if they do not reject this help, What was missed on earth in the effort of love, is gladly and joyfully carried out there, and this effort is often not so easy because there are - just as on earth - very many stubborn and obstinate souls in the universe, who are averse to any instruction and ungraciously reject it. There also many a knowing soul must exercise itself in patience and again and again try to influence such erring ones with love.

There is an extremely faithful listener in your circle all your writings are accessible to him, and he already has the knowledge that he feels happy to have been so blessed. It is the Lord's will that all those who are yours and all who are near you may participate in the teachings that are given to you. For such is commanded by the Lord that everyone should be granted what he desires And whoever feels drawn into this circle, he will certainly not go away empty-handed and they will be commanded so much spiritual food and drink that they can strengthen and mature with it.

Through your work they have been offered such an active spiritual activity that they thank you eternally because your will to reach God also shows the right way to so endlessly many. In this hour we all experience the grace of the Lord on us and thus follow your work with true joy The Lord's goodness lasts forever, and His love is boundless He considers all His children and seeks to win also those who still reject Him. Thanks to Him until all eternity.

Regarding earthquakes and disasters

A little while yet, and the Lord provides His own with great power and gives them authority to work in His name. Likewise, those whose hearts meet Him in love, will be overtaken by an undreamed-of measure of wisdom There will be thousands to be converted, and to give these a glimmer of the light of God, God must let extraordinary signs happen, because the blindness among mankind is too great.

And in a night of terror many will fall into the belief that the forces of nature have put an end to their existence. So there is still the possibility to bring about a recognition in such souls, because only that what happens outside the earth in which men are uninvolved, can bring about a change leading to good. The rule of the elements will make them realize that every being is subject to a higher power Hours of extreme trouble and distress have to precede this spiritual knowledge, and so also this is only a work of mercy of the Divine Savior.

As the forces of nature also have a purifying effect in the air through their activity, so also a great shaking of the earth will only have a positive effect on mankind in a favourable sense, because all earthly decay can be made good, but not the decay of the soul Whatever earthly valuables are destroyed, thousands and thousands of hands will strive to rebuild a building of the soul however will not be tackled so fast Only a small part of humanity will think of something better, and this will be greatly blessed by the natural activity and its devastation

Thus the brazen voice of the Lord will sound everywhere, and wise is he who hears it and works to fulfil the will of the Lord The earthly valley that is so lovely for you can become a valley of terror, if you do not respect the grace to be allowed to dwell in it and only strive to fulfill your sensual desires. Where can be a life without actual activity which is determined for you and which consists in the eager further training of your soul ? God's forbearance and patience lasts forever but you would not reach your goal in eternities, if you never had the will to do so.

And so God gives you His will urgently He who has ears to hear, let him hear because the Lord warns everyone, so that eternal darkness may not cover him, but that he may enjoy the Divine light. You who want to serve Me, be ready for this time, because then you will have to exercise your office and announce everywhere the word of God, which will be comfort and edification for innumerable people in difficult times, but then will also be respected and obeyed

Amen

New formation of beings

Army of creating spirits

Problems

The biggest problem for you to solve is how you can unite with the all-encompassing and love-giving Godhead, so that as a part of this eternal Godhead, you can also once possess unlimited, perfect power and join the army of creating spirits. Thus the wise plan of God is always directed towards the new formation of beings who always and constantly execute the will of the Lord out of their own free will in order to help countless less developed beings than these ruling powers to progress in infinity in a just and wise way, to let the beneficial environment arise for them again and thus to work united with the Godhead and yet unchanged by the Divine will

Integration into the Divine order already means a union with the eternal Godhead, because everything then happens according to the will of God and again for the purpose of the higher development of all beings originating from God That is why every atom in the universe was created by the hand of God and is never ever worthless The measures that are applied to bring about a complete dissolution of atoms are more or less executions of his servant spirit-beings, likewise brought about by the will of God, in order to penetrate even the smallest judgement of creation and to lead it to its intended purpose.

Everything that people do to dissolve matter to a certain extent, or to form it differently, is an intervention of the Divine will, which frees the beings bound in this matter, and offers them again in another form the possibility to go through the course of development determined for them. It is of extraordinary importance to extract from nature, which is constantly changing, the rules of life that are useful and beneficial to every being. Considering this, man will always have to recognize a wise Divine plan in every change of form be it on the ground or in the air

Everywhere a slow but constant change is going on, which, however, always has the sole purpose to give the beings a redesign that develops them further. Nothing can stick to and on the earth in the long run The condition of a form is of a different duration, depending on the abundance of the life-spirits encapsulated in the form An employment of the Divine will changes the old form only when these life-spirits are able to fulfill their task in another arrangement of their accordant to their purpose and this always until they have reached the degree of maturity for the next stage.

Such change an emergence and passing, is to be constantly observed in nature, and exactly the same is also the condition of humans - the same law of God is imposed over the soul, according to which the soul can likewise leave this covering only then when it has reached a certain degree of maturity Life on earth has however only value if the reaching of this degree of maturity is consciously aimed at in contrast to all stages, which the soul had to exist in involuntarily before it's embodiment as human

And so it must therefore be of the greatest value to consciously enter into contact with the Divine Creator, so that the millennia of struggle before would not been in vain and man now lives up to his last task in full knowledge of it and of out of his own free will That he turn this his will to the Godhead and subordinate it completely to the Divine will this alone is of blessing to the spirit, that his striving to unite with the Divine Father-Spirit, may be fulfilled. For God's wisdom and love has a task ready for everyone, which awaits him in eternity

Activity in the afterlife

Participation in the teachings

It's value

It will not remain hidden to you that also in the hereafter a still so small will-power is able to develop favourably in the spiritual. It is a regulated activity for the service of still ignorant beings, a permanent school of the spirit There too, as on earth, like-minded souls unite and exercise their activity mostly in a community, because a mutual stimulation for these souls is a need and again also stimulates the souls to utmost activity.

The free will is also here alone decisive, then nobody can find himself in a predicament everything that is done in the hereafter is the completely free will of the individual each soul holds an office, a place, where it fulfills it's obligations and is always anxious to carry out "more" than is demanded of it. Provided that this soul has already received the grace of enlightenment that it has recognized which work awaits it in the hereafter and that it can only reach a higher state through such activity in love for the other. Nothing is then too heavy or too laborious for such a soul Without rest, it remains busy and active for the great work in eternity, to save the lost or ignorant souls from need and distress.

If now such a connection is established as this your present, then the spirit-being concerned about lower creatures, brings an extraordinary ability to undertake this work of redemption Such beings, who enjoy this teaching together with you, can indeed constantly look after an immense number of souls in need of help and lovingly impart to them the teachings and wisdom they have enjoyed, and the strength will never diminish, because they may constantly draw from this source of grace, which opens up to you on earth as well as to the beings in the hereafter, an area that is inexhaustible - because the wisdom of God cannot find an end, as everything that is of God cannot be completed forever

The highest gift to a human on earth is the personal instruction by the highest messengers of God and the love of the Lord Himself To whom this is granted, he cannot praise himself sufficiently happy because his earthly power is not by far sufficient to receive such teachings and wisdom, unless the power of God expresses itself so visibly and wants to consider the willing child with the gift to receive and write down the thoughts of the spirit-beings.

It is a work from the heavens it is an obvious sign of the Lord's exceedingly great love for His children on earth it is still much more a making oneself feel the loving heart turned to Him, so that it may hear the voice of the Lord and now be graciously blessed. The school of life is built on Divine wisdom he to whom this school now brings or has brought the desired success, will henceforth be fed directly from heaven with further teachings, and his teacher will be the Savior Himself, who again blesses the earth through such love and wants to save it from destruction when they only accept what is lovingly offered to them from above.

Cycle of Things

Rhythm

Three times sun-effect

One of the peculiarities of the day is also the eventful and extensive ... and extremely regulated effects of the natural forces on both humans and the animal world ... It is a cycle of all things predetermined by the Divine will as a basis according to which now each being is always subjected to the same events and everything regulates itself which would be of great consolation to humans, if they had directed their attention to it only a little Just as everything in the universe is subject to a certain rhythm, so too all events in life are animated by the same rhythm, so that an unmistakable rule of the eternal Godhead can already be seen from it.

Although you follow all your actions of your own free will, a certain regularity can always be recognized and always repeats the same thing at certain intervals, quite obviously and sometimes also hidden, but clearly visible to the person thinking about it. Whether on a small or large scale Everything is based on the Divine order, therefore it is natural that the eternal Godhead knows about the smallest world events and that every event is necessary for the development of the whole

If man would regard the whole natural life in this sense, then he could not at all avoid to take note of the all-directing and wise ruling Deity because no earthly ruler, however wise, can influence a natural event This is the sole responsibility of the Ruler of the universe, who from eternal times has given His laws to nature and all that arises in it The sun's effect is different three times a day in the morning, at noon and in the evening It's power acts on the living beings in a different way each time

In the morning, it practically awakens everything that sleeps it raises leaves and flowers, grasses and stalks and provides them with the strength to go through the daily stage of development to grow and flourish At midday the power of the sun is so increased that it has an invigorating effect on all creatures, as long as they are still growing. It then drives everything to the highest activity and thus in turn promotes the development of all living beings on earth But by evening, it's light is already extremely mild charitably touching everything and of mild luminous and warm power. And yet even this slow decline of their activity is wisely arranged to prevent the transition from the heat of the day to the coolness of the night from being felt so suddenly by all that lives on earth.

Likewise man must move in his so ordered cycle of all things, directed according to God's wisdom and will, and these regular repetitions of all events are the pointers to the rule of the eternal Godhead and an indication that man is therefore an inserted link in the chain that is passed through all eternities, forged by the Divine Master Himself.

Father's comforting words

Admonition to firm faith

The breath of God blows around you, My child, when you turn to Me in intimate prayer. Try to always abandon yourself to heavenly grace, and soon the trembling in your heart will be banished, because you must know that whoever trusts Me, acquires an inexhaustible measure of love In no distress of body and soul I leave you alone because a heart that trusts Me is strong in its faith. But the eternally highest, is faith If you can call a deep, unshakeable faith your own, then you yourself are standing much higher than the highest born man on earth. For those who believe in Me are My children, and those who are children of God are no longer of this world

Receive and understand I want you to acquire this deep faith, I also want you to present all your worries to Me with confidence and I want to take these your worries from you as a father keeps all evil away from his children. The more you trust, the further away all misfortune will be from you Your soul is still timid and yet stands in an excess of grace

Therefore, your effort to refrain from any timidity should always be to trust only your Saviour and put yourself in a state where you, deeply believing and with a joyful heart, surrender yourself to the Heavenly Father, for His care is your welfare and if the soul is well taken care of, then the needs of the body, which still press you, will not be felt and also of so little importance which you will only recognize when you have emerged from the body shell yourselves.

The Lord warns everybody against a too shallow faith you will feel the power of a deep faith even soon in yourselves you will be relieved of every pressure and every earthly heaviness when you only believe because the confidence that the Father in heaven does not leave you without help, will also make all heaviness much easier for you to bear, and so you come closer and closer to the eternal home. Because a true faith is the basis for correct action, and through this you will surely find the way to the heavenly Father

Love
God's Word
Field
Seed
God's protection

Love one another This is the highest commandment, for it embraces all that the Lord God asks of you If you fulfill this commandment, you will also never be without the love for God and you desire more and more the power and grace that flows to you through the love for God and for your neighbor. Therefore, wherever you are chosen to fulfill a mission to your neighbor, this alone is already an inexpressible grace from the Lord, because a field of love has been given to you, which you shall never tire of cultivating.

To receive the seed through the Word of God, which is transmitted to you daily, is again a proof of the grace of Divine Love, and if you are busy and active in spreading this Word, and if you sincerely ask God for His blessing, the seed will sprout in the hearts of people and will then also lead them on the way of salvation All salvation comes from the Word of God so the doors to the heart are wide open and let in all the blessings that the Lord Himself has placed in His Word. Full understanding will only come to you when you make an effort to put the Word of God into practice; there is nothing as powerful as the active exercise of the Word of God

"I am the word, the truth and the life", says the Lord so everyone has received the Lord Himself by accepting the word of God he walks in the truth and will live for eternity And as only true love always unites with the word, so it certainly follows by itself that you are then in full possession of all spiritual vitality that you then need not fear anything - and no event, however threatening, can affect you, because the Lord rules with his love in you and around you, and he watches over and protects those who are His those who carry His Word in their hearts and live in love for these are His true children whom the Father will protect from all evils of body and soul

The active spiritual activity the search for Divine truths the walk of the spirit in regions outside the earth all this is already a proof of the everlasting company of the Lord His love is steadfast with these children who abide in His Word and in love, and makes them safely walk the right path that leads to the heavenly Father and through Him to eternal life

Amen

Work of the demons
Love as a weapon
Poem

The demons are poisoning the land They are constantly trying to gain power over the incarnated souls walking on earth. They feel the need to transfer all the evil urges and vices they themselves indulge into the people on earth, and with all means and attempts they penetrate them A great power belongs to Self-conquest and recognition of your spiritual task to resist these demons. But every event has its good side the beings who are aware of their task, join themselves all the more intimately to their Lord and Savior

Earthly children living in spiritual inertia often awaken and become active and busily working on themselves as children of God, and by using all their strength they will also be able to overcome such temptations when they always turn their heart in love towards the heavenly Father. The call of the Lord goes out to all: Be alert and pray so that you do not fall into temptation, never forget to strengthen yourselves for the fight that earthly existence means for you live in faith and love then you are already conquerors and winners in this fight because you overcome yourselves and defeat the opponent who wants to destroy you.

A little word of love, given to your neighbor, is always a weapon with which you protect yourself against all attacks of the enemy And if love moves you, you will never be defenseless this weapon breaks the strength of evil all evil influences are debilitated and you yourselves are growing an ever stronger and stronger force with which you can silence the whispers of such demons.

(In every danger, in every need, there is only one commandment for you let love dwell in your heart demons leave you, through love you fight your way up life on earth becomes easy for you; where ever only love is given there the heart is so richly considered Request this heavenly power. You shall be protected always you are always ready to love)

Amen

State of readiness

Submission of will

He who rules everything in the universe will know how to control even the smallest creatures. But He leads, as it were, at His hand the children of God who completely surrender themselves to His will One's own wrongdoing is then never to be feared because the power of the heavenly Father is stronger than the weak will of the child, and, inspired by this power, the child also willingly lets himself be led and thus always comes closer to the goal. As soon as faith weakens the danger to stray is greater, but where subordination to God's will has occurred, there is also the basis for a firm faith, and only a complete separation out of free will would result in a reduction of the strength of faith.

This would only be possible, however, if we consciously work against God's commandments And such is an extremely rare case, so once an earthly child in possession of Divine grace is also permeated by the love for God That is why you, My child, need have no worries; the Lord protects you and always gives you warnings and also proofs of His Fatherly grace, which is to draw you constantly higher. In view of the willingness with which you always fulfil your spiritual task, the Lord particularly urges you to put yourself in a state that puts an end to your fears and doubts in a state of complete readiness to receive everything that is intended for you

You must always think that the Lord has taken you into His loving care and now you can do nothing else but to do His will But you must also always accept every phenomenon in life, every suffering and discomfort, all joy, all happiness, also as a gift of the Saviour, who thereby only constantly shapes you, in order to transform you into that which makes you worthy of His love which in you should still eliminate everything that connects you with the earth, in order to transform you only into a child of heaven If you can reach that state, then soon all suffering will no longer be palpable to you You are then connected in love with your Creator and no longer feel the pressure and heaviness of the earth.

This complete leaning on the Divine will then also completely excludes a falling away because the will to reach the Father will always be a protective wall against possible temptations that penetrate from outside. your serious efforts must be directed to making yourself completely free of fear thus to overcome the lack of trust in God to the highest degree This will make your life path extraordinarily easier and make you more and more capable for this task on earth. For God's blessing is upon you all the time.

Amen

Grain - harvest - reaper
Secular pleasures

Accept the gifts as they are offered to you, and make an effort to take an intimate part in them, and you will always be blessed. For the grain is not always ripe for harvest it must come in due time. But if the time has not yet come, then it shall be left to the Lord how He brings the fruit to maturity. Likewise, your spirit is to receive what it is commanded by the heavenly Father Until the time of maturity has come, you must surrender yourself completely to the Lord, so that He may let the spiritual fruit in you come to maturity. Likewise, your spirit is to receive what it is commanded by the heavenly Father Until the time of maturity has come, you must surrender yourself completely to the Lord, so that He may let the spiritual fruit in you come to maturity.

Then only when the time of harvest has come, when the reaper needs many, then it will become clear how manifold the seed has risen, which the Lord Himself has sown. Pay attention to the coming time, everything that turns to the earth with it's joys cannot develop to spiritual maturity The fruits now being brought forth are perishable, worthless results of their earthly change they will be thrown aside as weeds at the great harvest, and the right fruits will be very few.

And in this time it will become obvious Man with his habits cannot so easily give up what has kept him imprisoned for years and has been of attraction to him until now. He tramples on the good seed that was sown, because he does not recognize it's value and so he already gave up everything to be able to count on a good harvest, because he gave up the foundation

The lovely earthly valley
Clockwork

Acquire the right to God's grace, and it will be granted to you immeasurably. Hear the words of the Lord: The valley of life is for you people a rich and beautiful fragment of the eternal creation of God Where the children of the earth strive to find the key to all that is beautiful, the earth will open up to them it will reveal itself to the smallest detail and will thereby proclaim the glory of the Most High, His power and His glory.

Given this, the earth will be like a clock, finely constructed by God, whose movement is driven inexorably as if by a finely geared train. In the same way also the earth is kept in motion by eternally interlocking cogs, which are the eternally unchanging Divine order and every creature has its share in participating in its kind in the Lord's work of creation. Countless seed dust holds the fullness of light each grain of sand holds an atom of the universe but the wise of the world see nothing of it all they grasp only purely earthly, which they should recognize as a miracle of Divine creation. They have wisely calculated and fathomed all emergence in nature

Everything that testifies to the miraculous power of the Divine Spirit is, according to their understanding, a lawful force of nature, an emergence out of itself, based on the living conditions of the individual living beings. Just there where the working of the Divinity begins, there they stop they certainly deduce the presence of a divinity, but only in the forces of nature expressing themselves but not as an entity, which intervenes in all life and experience down to the smallest detail and which has set a certain task for the beings inhabiting the earth

Everything that the earth offers to your eyes can only be grasped in its deepest wisdom and wonderful glory if one deeply believe in an eternal God without this you lack the key that will give you access to this wonderland and what your eyes see is only the shell that still hides the secret work of the Lord try to look with spiritual eyes and you will break through the shell you will look into a land that will reveal far more wonders to you you will soon be able to recognize the earth as that which the Divine Creator creates in the excess of His love as a clockwork of the finest construction which in its regularity is such a meaningful institution for millions of people who betrays the direct contact of the Divine Master with His creatures and therefore thanks - praise - and honour are due to this Lord and Master until all eternity

Amen

Reference to teaching activities
The wise - the ignorant

He who is faithful to the Lord fulfills his duty If the task was given to you to be a righteous fighter of Christ, then every word you speak for His glory is the right one and you will find in this task the fulfillment of life on earth. Thus a word for Christ is always better than an act without the blessing of the Lord, for this will be judged by the spirit that governs it but you will never be told what to do for the glory of God, but your heart must guide you and will always find the right form to advocate for the Lord. So pay attention therefore only to the fact that love of the Lord guides you, then also your will will always accomplish what your heart longs for.

It is a tradition that wisdom cannot be made even wiser therefore the Word of God will only be accepted where man seeks but not where he already believes to have the knowledge there only a shrug of the shoulders will follow your speeches, but where the earthly child has been occupied with similar questions, the process will begin, which is the only way desired by the Lord and also by the spiritual beings that a lively thinking activity starts about problems, which are otherwise easily rejected.

And so the wise do not find the key to the truth so easily, the ignorant however gladly receive a reference to the Divine Creator and much is already won, if an earth child devotes itself to this thought How this thought-activity happens, is not hidden from you it often is only the slightest hint of survival after death that makes people think And if the sense of eternity is opened to a true seeker of God, then knowledge is not difficult for him to attain The grace to dwell in the Lord is commanded to everyone in the richest measure, but innumerable people do not respect this grace

The world creates its teachings as it needs them and as they are beneficial to earthly desire But these will certainly be hardly compatible with the Divine teachings they judge where they lack any knowledge and also any understanding they often make the views of others their own without possessing the right power of judgment themselves. And then they want to have an educational effect on others To prevent this is praiseworthy and pleasing to the Lord, and where the love for the Divine Lord and Saviour underlies this endeavour, words will not fall on barren ground, but will quietly begin to sprout and be supported by personal events, thought through again and again and finally heeded so that your efforts will be rewarded

Present and past

Redemption

The past solves itself the present is always the ever-determining. Making these words understandable to man, is often met with hard resistance and yet this problem is one of the most important laws of creation, according to which the Lord never judges and punishes with eternal damnation whoever once has detached himself from the past sinful life and has now accepted true knowledge in the present. This is all the more difficult to accept because man is responsible for his deeds at all times so therefore for all the past but in God's wisdom and love it is reserved to every creature to be released from the deserved punishment when his innermost being can still be guided on the right path and be transformed

Then what he lacked before will never again be repaid, but will lovingly be forgiven him by the Lord and Savior. Therefore the Lord took upon Himself the suffering and sin of mankind; He suffered death on the cross to deliver them from this guilt of sin. Because it would rise into the immeasurable for humans, if they would want to erase all sin debt themselves one day Hence the Lord is so unspeakably interested in an inner conversion, because he wants to reduce the unspeakable pain in the hereafter for the children of the earth

And the struggle for such souls, which walk on earth in darkness of spirit for a long time, is tremendous therefore it is necessary to present to them the great mercy of the Lord That they are allowed to free themselves from their guilt when a finite recognition of the eternally Divine causes them to purify themselves inwardly when they in this knowledge repent of their past life and through this make themselves worthy of all grace that is now offered to them in rich measure. God's goodness and mercy is great; he wipes out all guilt on earth where the heart lovingly turns to the Father - then the love for the Lord has first become alive in man, then his previous life will appear despicable to him, he will remember his previous failed life in deepest repentance, and this repentance and the will to henceforth be devoted to the Lord, cleanses him from all guilt.

So the past will always dissolve into nothing when it is replaced by the present in such a way that this present corresponds to the true purpose and goal for which man was allowed to embody himself on earth. Such transformations of the past life are an inestimable advantage for the earthly man the strength and the grace of God is granted to him in such a measure that he can also carry out the complete detachment from the past life with good will Only remorse will remain with him, but this will only have a beneficial effect on the inner formation of his being.

Whoever once recognizes his sins and implores the Lord for mercy in his deepest heart, will be received very lovingly by the Savior as a repentant sinner, and in all mildness and goodness the Lord says: "Your sins are forgiven". He thus erases the debt of the past and takes the repentant child to His Father's heart He blesses it a thousand times over, because heaven rejoices more over one sinner who has recognized and found the Lord than over ninety-nine righteous people

Success of the researchers

and inner voice

Link

Predictions

Recognize the Divine Spirit In connection with the all-encompassing Divine love, by absorbing the spiritual truths, you acquire a treasure of spiritual goods that surpasses all human knowledge Never can the deep intervention of the Divinity into the life on earth be recognized with the earthly mind Only he who listens and ponders in the heart, will reach there where truth is hidden.

My child, put yourself in the position of a serious researcher and enlightenment desiring person, who in all love for truth does not find the right understanding from the simple tones of the heart's voice he has been offered an abundance of teachings, and his effort was dedicated to the full investigation of these The most childlike form, the most urgent heartfelt plea to the heavenly Father that is what all these researchers for the truth are missing. Years of work cannot bring them success, when the most intimate devotion to the Savior in a short time brings the earthly child Oh far above such wisdom researchers! Even if your sense and aspiration is good how easily could you achieve all this,

and by which detours do you seek to reach the goal

For the spiritual activity is always only conditioned by love. Withdraw from life on earth, and desire to take part in the spiritual life and gates will be opened to you, and you will look into an environment which can satisfy you far more than empty science, which was built up and rationally explained only on intellectual knowledge. Thus the spiritual maturity begins to develop in you far earlier than can ever happen through wise and trained forces The Lord distributes where faith is deep, and only this inner faith guarantees you also the understanding of His teachings

For the number of those to whom this area is alien, who strictly adhere to earthly boundaries and could not yet feel the extraordinary power of the Godhead in their hearts, a day will also come when the truth will be revealed to them a day when everything that is normal, will be changed a day where their thinking activity stops and they will only look and not be able to understand and then the human mind will deal with these problems, and suddenly a wonderful experience begins in their hearts

The seeker will be considered and find The seeker will recognize, and all this out of love And to those who love, the Lord approaches and directs them in the wisest way. They fall under His spell, from which they cannot escape, because they must love when the love of the Lord embraces them Words of incomparable power and effect will flow from the mouth of him who lets himself be guided without hesitation by the love of the Lord and such a man must then do completely as the Lord prescribes Why then do you want to doubt, you who will then recognize the power of love in yourselves

That is man's noblest task, to be a link between heaven and earth to have no will of his own except that which the Godhead demands. These are the fingers of the Lord They convey the word that the Lord Himself gives to the children on earth they are the spiritual helpers for building for eternity Life on earth without Divine representatives of the highest will, would be much more difficult to live

The Lord has wisely mentioned the mediators between heaven and earth in order to speak through them to His own. The one who addresses himself directly to the heavenly Father in all intimacy also has the task of communicating the extraordinary grace that he receives to his dear neighbor. But it is precisely this task that is so rarely recognized The will of the Lord must visibly intervene there, and this will happen in a short time. Forces inexplicable to mankind will be expressed, but will bring enlightenment to the spiritual seeker.

Those who serve Me will certainly hear nothing else but My highest own voice, and no power on earth will be able to drown out this My voice And because this time is near, I again urge you all to pay attention to everything that comes from above and not to slacken in wrestling and praying Because this will give you strength to remain loyal to Me and to recognize every event as My will.

Those who are devoted to the Lord are indeed small in number but where they work in My name, they will achieve great things and spread light that will shine in a wide radius. They shall be strengthened when they need it because who fights for My kingdom will be strong against the enemy The power will continuously flow to him until evil is defeated and good has triumphed. And those whom I send to you, you shall hear, and you shall feel in your heart who are Mine. Because where My power connects with the earth, there the earthly child accomplishes extraordinary things through Me and when you hear these, you will want to enter My kingdom

Connection between the earth and the beyond

So begin and notice: It has always been the Lord's wise intention to establish a connection between heaven and earth, but one thing remains hidden from people for their benefit, that the world of spirits on the other side clearly reveals itself to everyone who longs for it. For that would not be in the Divine order. The connection can only be made when a completely mature man turns to the hereafter with sincere intentions. Therefore, attempts to establish communication will always be aborted and abandoned People lack full earnestness, spiritual maturity and the will to serve.

And again a whole army of spirit-beings is close to earth, which would like to make themselves perceptible to the earthly children in every imaginable way As often as these beings now have the opportunity to make themselves known to people, and a connection is established with them on earth, also lower elements crowd up, which likewise seek this way to be able to follow their drives, and just these are the cause that such connections soon dissolve in such a case, the good beings then seriously regret not being able to communicate.

The power of these beings can only work in agreement with the earthly children. If they have a really good will, then a good understanding is soon achieved, and the more intensely focused the earthly child concentrates on the pure-spiritual, the more perfect will be the announcements, which it then receives through the spirit-beings So the creature of God on earth has it perfectly in his own hands to create a spiritual connection with the hereafter which is of such extraordinary blessing to himself.

If man convinces himself that Godly power is expressed in every spiritual atmosphere, and if he accepts that only by means of this power a connection can be achieved, then it will be understandable to him that the beings seeking connection on this side as well as on the other side, must also be permeated by God if they are also allowed this power. Because the highest being with it's work cannot possibly place itself at the disposal of a God-averted being.

Therefore everything that is started and carried out with God and in God, will be crowned with the highest success While other motives are the cause and other God-averse forces intervene and are active, there the basis is given for error, for conscious deception and consequently for a rejection of faith in a connection from this world to the hereafter

Strive for true knowledge A being matured in this way then possesses an extraordinary wealth of power, because it may continue to draw this [power] from the connection with the good spirit-beings lovingly granted by God

Amen
