

BD 9027 6th and 7th day of August, 1965

Devaluation of the divine Word (in terms of time)....

All of you will be addressed by Me who wish that your Father in heaven speaks to you. And it is not a word spoken to you in vain, for time and again you will be able to draw strength from it time and again, and your knowledge will always be extended by it. And what is once conveyed by Me to earth will also retain its value, for they are always divine words, words of love and grace, and no human being should try to devalue them, for everything is an illumination of My strength of love, which therefore never loses its value.

My Words cannot be devalued if you receive them differently in terms of time, for My Word will always and forever remain valid and can only be offered according to the recipient's state of maturity, and only I can assess this. Hence, if you believe that you are now being considered differently it can only concern the fact that the end is approaching and My admonitions and warnings are becoming ever more urgent.... yet the soul's development will always and forever remain the same, and everything I have once spoken will not lose its validity.

For My Word will never devalue itself, and where people accept it they are not in a position to understand it the way I want it to be understood.... For it is always My Word which is offered to you through human mouths and it is not up to you to pass judgment on it, for I truly know what is best for all of you and for which state of maturity it is given to you. And I will always direct it to where people need this very Word in order to develop upwards. And if you were all able to hear My voice directly then I would also be able to speak to everyone and answer his questions, but since this is not possible I give all My Words in such a way that they are useful to everyone and help him to develop further. For I know all hearts and know what they need, even if you humans don't know it.

(7.8.1965) I truly know what serves your fulfillment. Therefore, do not believe that I send My word to the earth without purpose or aim, but I always speak to each individual person as their spiritual condition requires and as they are receptive to it. Often, souls in the afterlife are addressed, and answers are given to the questions that move them, which I can only answer in the way they understand it, corresponding to their level of maturity. But never believe that a word from Me reaches the earth without purpose or goal, for everything is known to Me, every condition of the one being addressed, and no word loses its value because there are always people who must be addressed in this way or another way, and they should only spread My word...

And if I seem to lead My word seemingly randomly to the earth in awareness of the spiritual need, then take it as suitable for this spiritual need, for nothing is given in vain, nothing is without sense or purpose; everything serves only the upward development and is adapted to the maturity of the one who receives it (them) and therefore, I also guide the thoughts of those who receive My word directly from Me and bear responsibility for its dissemination.

Amen.
